'Ryan reached a level of maturity that some men never reach in a lifetime'

Ryan's Song

Antioch High Senior's life cut short in motorcycle accident

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The sudden death of Ryan T. Clutts, 17, of Antioch, left behind a constellation of values from which his many friends can build their own lives.

An athlete, a scholar, and an Antioch Community High School student, Ryan seemingly reflected values of adult maturity that some men never achieve in their lives.

He could slip comfortably into the silence that intimate friendships can sustain with women and his male mates.

This is a portrait of a person that is drawn by some of the adults, friends, and coaches he left behind. On Tuesday evening, Sept. 1, he died after an accident on a motorcycle.

The night before, Monday night, Ryan had picked up a telephone and called his varsity baseball coach Paul Petty. Ryan wanted to throw some balls, and Petty agreed to set up a net and target at the high school.

"He definitely wanted to get better," said Coach Petty. Ryan wanted to protect his pitching arm and worked to strengthen and rehabilitate it from a separation sustained while playing football. He was a three sport athlete— football, basketball, and baseball— but in his final year at ACHS he had decided not to play football to reduce the risk of injury. He wanted to get physically better because he wanted to be able to play baseball after engineering school.

But, he also wanted to get better as a competitive athlete. "Ryan was a good player," Petty said. "He never gave up. He worked very hard."

• Football Team dedicates season to athlete—see page A11

• Obituary—see page C9

"On my teams, I look for character. Talent comes. Talent goes. Character really sticks in your mind," he said. "He was one of those kids with a lot of character."

"Skillwise, Ryan definitely had all the skills."

"On-field. Off-field."

Head basketball Coach Jeff Dresser said, "Ryan was a point guard on the Antioch basketball team. It was a position that is responsible for getting the team's offense started. Ryan was to get the basketball to the right people to make goals. A lot of people won't give up individual success for the good of the team."

Dresser said that the team had a good year, and Ryan was part of that.

"He changed his game to fit our system," Dresser said. Regardless of how competitive Ryan may have been as a person, he also was able to be a team player.

Academics is not always a team endeavor, but Ryan made it one with his friends. He was competitive academically, and his membership in the National Honor Society attests that he could perform in the classroom. He was a high honor roll student.

Abbie Honaker said, "I met him freshman year at a school dance." Ryan liked to dance, best described as freestyle although other friends would say he loved to line dance.

"We had English together sophomore year. That's when we became best friends," Abbie said.

Presentation to show parents the role of technology in the classroom

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Community residents are invited to an evening demonstration of the potential for technology both in the school system and in the community on Wednesday, Sept. 16 at 7 p.m. at Antioch Community High School.

Ian Jukes of the Thornburg Center for Professional Development will speak to community residents at ACHS in the auditorium, provide demonstrations of technology, and answer questions by the audience.

His visit is sponsored by all area public school districts.

In addition, all schools in the Lake Villa, Antioch, and Lindenhurst area will host an Area Schools Technology Conference that day for their faculty and staff.

"We're looking at technology as a tool to connect our communities," said Deb Kerr, principal of Antioch Upper Grade School and coordinator of the multi-district event.

The intent of the public meeting is to help people understand "why technology is a practical investment for the community," she said. The sessions during the day are to improve knowledge and skills of school system personnel. The evening address for the public is to expose ideas about schools, society, and technology to parents, taxpayers, and interested individuals.

'We're looking at technology as a tool to connect our communities.'

Deb Kerr, AUGS principal, coordinator of presentation

Jukes' presentation is technology based, according to Kerr. "He will model it and demonstrate it."

Ian Jukes is an associate director with the Thornburg Center for Professional Development. He has worked with communities throughout North America to develop plans to restructure schools and to integrate technology into all classrooms.

"There will be time to interact with him," said Kerr. She believes his multi-media, interactive presentation will be most educational and entertaining.

The invitation to Jukes to speak to Lindenhurst, Lake Villa, and Antioch residents emerged from meetings among school administrators that had started last spring, according to Kerr. Administrators had come together to discuss ways of educational collaboration. For them, issues related to changes in technology were a logical place to start.

School principals surveyed their staff and received feedback on needs for education and training. "We developed a conference format of 42 sessions taught by resident experts," Kerr said. Approximately 400 teachers and staff will be involved in the day-long sessions.

The day-time educator's conference itself will have three goals. The first is to allow participants to learn about individual computer programs and how to use them in the classroom.

A second goal of the conference is to utilize the existing technology

An Antioch High School junior was struck by an auto Wednesday afternoon as she crossed Chestnut at Orchard during a recreational walk as part of her 7th hour physical education class.

The 16-year-old student was airlifted by Flight for Life from the high school football field at approximately 2:35 p.m. to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge because of a possible head injury, according to Stacie Slazes, of the Lake Villa Rescue Squad.

The accident occurred at approximately 1:50 p.m.

"They left school grounds accompanied by a teacher when the accident happened, during a change of class," said Superintendent Dr. Dennis Hockney.

LEARNING: Parents get hands-on lesson in technology professionals throughout the school systems to train others, including those from other schools and districts.

The third goal is to create a local support network among educators in area schools and districts that can be used in the future.

Jukes will provide a morning keynote address to all conference participants. He will speak about "New Schools for a New Age."

Jukes has said that he seeks to prepare children for their future rather than for the past. He believes this is possible if schools can be restructured to make them relevant to current and future needs, not those that society has built upon in the past.

To communicate these ideas, Jukes will focus on concepts and practical issues to place technology in the classroom from the point of view of educators. His presentation is described as "rollicking" and "high energy." He explains how people's perspectives throughout the community effect what can be done with technology.

Schools participating in this community education event include Peter J. Palombi School, Emmons Grade School, Antioch Upper Grade School, B.J. Hooper School, W.C. Petty School, Grass Lake School, Oakland Grade School, J.J. Pleviak School, Antioch Lower Grade School, Millburn Grade School, and Antioch Community High School.

Artists, crafters fill weekend downtown fair

Farm stands, crafts sweep in fall

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Birdhouses, broomsticks, and candles will fill some of the 75 artisan and crafter booths at the Antioch Arts and Crafts Faire on Toft Avenue this weekend.

"They will see a lot of new things," said Dan Sills who manages the arts and crafts event for the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry. "We've got a lot of new ones."

There are new ones, but it is also true that the twice a year fair attracts some of the old favorites. Broom makers Emerson and Trudy Sander, for example, will be at their hometown fair Friday and Saturday, Sept. 12 and 13. Along with everyone else, they will hold forth with merchandise and stories from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Sills said, "St. Ignatius will have some food there." Also available for eating are specialty treats like Italian Ice, popcorn, and taffy apples sold by the Antioch Junior Woman's Club.

The Eberle's Vegetable Farm Stand will be there. "It has been there for years," said Sills.

Sills estimates that approximately 60 percent of the participants have previously exhibited at the Antioch street market, and the remainder will be new to the area. One of the new groups, for example will be the A.L.L. Parent Network of Antioch Community High School.

The A.L.L. Parent Network booth will offer opportunities to buy a brick to support the parent group's school projects. In addition, they are conducting a raffle of six Beanie Babies, donated by Barbara Porch of Choosey Child, to help raise funds. One raffle winner will go home with Rocket Blue Jay, Wise Owl, and bears Princess, Erin, Glory, and Fortune.

Sills said that the success of the fair continues to build on the quality of the exhibitors and the active buying attitude of those who come to the fair. To make sure shoppers know about the fair, the chamber sends out 20,000 color-coded postcard announcements to Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Antioch. A premium offer of $250 of gift certificates allows the chamber to recollect those cards to learn where people are coming from.

"About half of our cards are from Lake Villa and Lindenhurst," he said. Not only is the mailing providing feedback to the chamber, it also notifies people throughout the area.

Broom makers Emerson and Trudy Sander serve as heralds of a different era with their skills and sales offerings.

"I inherited the knack of doing them" Emerson Sander said. His Kentucky mother made them and taught him how. "In 1989, I started to make them full-time. (Trudy and I) had been doing craft fairs since the 1970s as well as running the Sunshine Laundromat," Sander said.

Trudy Sanders carves faces on the broom handles. This gives them a very special character that makes them functional as well as decorative. As a result, there are people who collect them.

"We have one lady in Wisconsin who has 26 of our brooms," Emerson Sander said. "One lady bought six of them for Christmas presents."

The broom corn used by the Sanders is available from Mexico. Very little broom corn is grown domestically, although southern Illinois does have some.

The broom handles are found wherever Emerson can find them. "I try to find wood with some twists and knots in it for character," he said.

He makes many different brooms. There are hearth brooms, little whisk brooms, and a wedding/good fortune broom.

They make an easy sweep broom, a witch's broom, and their most popular broom, a cob-web broom.

Trudy Sander has made some specialty brooms. "She's made broom-stick ponies." They also have decorated Yule brooms.

It is hard to estimate the time it takes to make one broom. He collects the handles at one time. The broom corn itself is prepared in large amounts.

"I make them in stages," he said. Once he has all the pieces available, it takes him about a half hour for a small broom and one hour for a large one.

He tells buyers not to lean his broom against the wall. Emerson Sander said he puts a thong at the end of the handle so they may be hung on a hook. This will allow the broom to last twice as long.

"Antioch is a good show to do," Sander said. "More and more people are hearing about it."

He definitely knows what he is talking about. "I've been there since they started up the show."

Beanie raffle aids parent's organization

Barbara Porch of Choosey Child has donated six Beanie Babies to be raffled on Sunday evening, Sept. 13 at the end of the Arts and Crafts Faire on Toft Avenue.

"I'm doing this to help the A.L.L. Parent Network because it is a good organization," Barbara Porch said.

A.L.L. Parent Network is an organization that helps Antioch Community High School parents, sponsors the school's after-prom Odyssey cruise ship dinner-dance in Chicago, and sponsors information programs.

Tickets are for sale at Porch's store at 891 Main Street for $3, two for $5, and four for $10. The Beanies are: Princess Bear, Erin Bear, Glory Bear, Fortune Bear, Wise Owl, and Rocket Blue Jay.

"It's nice because one person wins six Beanies," Porch said.

Tickets will be for sale at the A.L.L. Parent Network Booth at the art and craft fair as well as at Choosey Child.

Betty Smouse reports that auditions for the holiday PM&L Theater production "Annie Warbucks" are on Sunday, Sept. 13 at 1 p.m. for girls 9 and up who wish to be considered for roles of Annie and the orphans. Teens and adults may audition Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 21 and 22 at 7 p.m.

Gigi Willding, of Ingleside, is the director and choreographer. Cathy Miller, of Salem, Wis., is the musical director. The four weekends of shows start November 20. Further information is available at 847-973-8134.

Keith Cox, at Antioch Community High School, has a revived Show Choir in rehearsal after its absence of four years. It is a co-curricular activity for which about 45 students turned out for audition. Thursday, Sept. 3 members of the Show Choir were working on stage with their microphones. "It's a singing and dancing group," he said. Students prepare a series of musical and dance numbers.

"It's the ultimate aerobic exercise," Cox said.

The first production is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 15.

An information night regarding the start of a Writer's Group and also a Reading Group is scheduled for tonight, Friday evening, Sept. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at Books, Etc., 901 Main Street. Dale Perryman has more information about them at 847-838-2665.

Marilyn Shineflug has declared Monday, Sept. 14 as the start of "Voice of Democracy Week" in Antioch. It is a school-ship contest sponsored by the Antioch Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary for students in grades 10, 11, and 12. The theme for this 52nd year of the contest is "My Service to America."

Let the record show that the last Skidmore Street electrical transformer was set in place by Commonwealth Edison on Friday, Aug. 21 at about 9 a.m. The green transformers connect 14,000 feet of cable in 8 pipes that were placed in trenches behind the east side of Main Street businesses this summer. Village of Antioch employees were a major factor in saving tens of thousands of dollars for the cost of burying the cables, according to Claude LeMere, community development director.

The next step is to wire the transformers, wire the buildings, then transfer power to the new system. The result will be a wire-free sky in the William E. Brook Wetlands Sanctuary and Entertainment Center area.

The parking lot will be a place to park next Spring when downtown sidewalks are repaired.

Grading for the parking lot will be underway soon. Coming up sometime during the first half of October will be the asphalt paving.

RYAN: Young life leaves lifetime impression

Honaker and Ryan were part of a close group of friends who were taking Honors Physical Science. "We all dropped it," Honaker said.

Ryan stayed in the course and he got an A in Honors Physical Science. "He had a time with it, but he did it."

"He's the only reason I passed math," Abbie Honaker said. "Ryan would go out of his way to help me."

Her sister said the same thing. "I met him through my sister," Allison Honaker said. "He called me Al."

"He would try to explain problems to me," she said. "We studied together for tests." He was encouraging, supportive.

"He was real patient when he taught me."

"He taught me how to shoot a basketball," said Laura Harvey.

"He taught me how to do it right."

On his own terms for his own school work, he was equally committed. As an ACHS student, he had to write "The American Dream" essay. It is a major project and every student has to do it.

"It's about what you would dream your life to be," said Dino Katris. Ryan wrote about what he wanted his life to be; what he wanted it to turn out like.

"He did a lot of research. He spent a lot of time because he wanted it to be perfect," said brother Brandon Clutts. "He got an A on it."

"He was straight-As pretty much," said Brandon.

For Sandy Honaker, mother of Allison and Abbie, Ryan was a welcomed member to the household. "Ryan reached a level of maturity that some men never reach in a lifetime," she said. "He did not feel embarrassed about talking about how he felt."

"He had confidence in himself, but he did not flaunt it," said Sandy Honaker.

"He was respectful with adults," said Abbie. "It came from his parents. His parents are very good people. He loved them."

"He always looked up to his parents. His parents mattered to him."

Friends mattered to him.

"People who aren't friends with each other were friends of Ryan," Abbie Honaker said. "He was friends with people because of who you were."

'He was one of those kids with a lot of character.'

Paul Petty
ACHS baseball coach

"He was very comfortable with all his friends," said Dan Shaughnessy, a close friend.

Ryan was close to Steve Smart and Dan Shaughnessy. Ray George was a good friend from traveling baseball and other ties. Steve and Ryan would work out at The Jungle Gym in Lindenhurst to build strength and endurance.

Jamie Jorgensen said, "(Ryan) didn't want to go to football games because he thought he would miss it too much."

But Ryan went anyway. He wanted to see Steve play, according to Jorgensen.

Ryan knew how Steve was feeling before the game. They talked together beside Ryan's brown and tan GMC Sierra truck. Ryan told Steve to just do his best. Once again, he was encouraging.

"He was always there to support his friends," said Steve Smart. "He would always come to my wrestling meets."

Shaughnessy met Ryan through baseball. Their friendship developed out of the time they spent together.

"He was my main man," said Shaughnessy.

"We went to a couple of Cubs games," Dan said. "In his first game, we were in the bleacher thoughts," Abbie said. There were areas of guy lore that he would not share, according to her, but it was out of respect that he did not want to talk to women about such things.

For the young women in his life, Ryan was a bridge to another world view.

Ryan Clutts liked to listen to country music; he liked to swim; he would get sea-sick on the Odyssey at post-prom.

"He liked to dress nice. He liked to dress up," said Allison.

Ryan fixed the brakes and a flat tire on his truck. He worked on vehicles with his Dad, Lee Clutts. He put an alternator in his brother's car. He brought Abbie a blue rabbit when she was in the hospital. He liked to argue. He liked pizza. Cheese Nips.

Ryan drank Sunkist Orange. "Whenever I was having a bad day," Tiffanie Schneider said, "he could always make me smile. That is what I'll remember. He was always trying to make me laugh."

Ryan Clutts loved "Field of Dreams."

He worked at Custom Sprinkler Systems with his brother Brandon. With Steve Smart, they shoveled chicken manure.

Head basketball coach Jeff Dresser had many good things to say of Ryan regarding his athleticism. But, he also saw another element of Ryan's life in the days before ACHS opened its doors for the new school year.

Dresser saw Ryan Clutts showing his cousin, Rachelle, around the school so that she would know where things were when she started to attend the school.

"Here he was, giving up his time for someone else," he said.

ANTIOCH

Consumption

Antioch Police Officers stopped Jarrett E. Schank, 19, of Lindenhurst, on Saturday, Aug. 29 at 2:47 a.m. as he stood in a parking lot in the 900 block of Toft Avenue. He was charged with being a minor who had consumed alcohol.

Warrants

Antioch Police Officers stopped James R. Hrmciar, of Antioch, on Wednesday, Sept. 2, at 9:19 p.m. traveling north bound on Route 83 at Route 173 in a 1985 Blue Plymouth Horizon. He was wanted on two outstanding warrants by the Lake County Sheriff's Office. He was turned over to the Lake County Jail.

No license, insurance

State of Illinois Police Officers stopped Kenneth Patchen, 53, of Trevor, Wis., on Saturday, Sept. 5 at approximately 12:30 a.m. at Avon School south of Rollins Road on Route 83 in a dark green 1996 green Taurus. He was notified that his driver's license was expired, and he was unable to provide proof of insurance.

LAKE VILLA

Arrested for hitchhiking

Michael E. Young, 36, of 2513

57th Court, Lake Villa, was stopped by an officer on routine patrol who spotted him hitchhiking on Route 83 near Wall Street on Sept. 3 at 5:33 p.m.

Young was cited for soliciting rides on a roadway and asked to appear in court on Oct. 14 in Grayslake.

Young was then arrested for an outstanding warrant for domestic battery after a routine check of his record. He was placed under arrest and transported to Lake County Jail. urt date of Sept. 16 in Waukegan.

License suspended

Thomas G. McDowell, 38, of Winthrop Harbor, was stopped by Lake Villa police on Aug. 30 a little after midnight after an officer noticed his registration light was out.

McDowell was charged with driving with a suspended license.

LINDENHURST

No valid license, insurance

Lindenhurst Police Officers stopped George J. Carson, 33, of Chicago, on Friday, Sept. 4 at 4:43 p.m. traveling west bound in a maroon Toyota pick-up truck. He was charged with not having a front license plate, no insurance, and not having a valid driver's license. Carson was released on personal recognizance pending a court hearing on Wednesday, Oct. 7 at 9 a.m. in Grayslake.

Speeding, No license

Lindenhurst Police Officers stopped Carlos R. Mejia, 38, of Waukegan, on Sunday, Sept. 6 at 1:25 p.m. traveling west bound on Route 132 west of Sand Lake Road in a red 1989 Chevrolet. He was charged with speeding and not having a valid driver's license. Mejia was released on bond pending a Wednesday, Oct. 7 at 9 a.m. in Grayslake.

Child Assistance

Lindenhurst Police Officers provided assistance to a small child on Friday, Sept. 4 at 10:34 p.m. The child was missing its finger-tip on the right hand fifth digit, exposing the end portion of the finger bone. The Lake Villa Rescue Squad transported the child to St. Therese Medical Center.

There were four children in the home from 1 to 6 years old. The mother is 25.

The home was found to be in disarray with foul odors. Children were wearing urine soaked clothing. Diapers had not been changed for many hours. Children were covered with an estimated 50 to 100 bug bites, also described as mosquito bites. There was no food in the refrigerator or freezer.

The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services was notified and is conducting an investigation.

Fire squad refurbished

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

First Fire Protection District Antioch Fire Department has reconditioned one of its rescue vehicles to improve capacity and extend its useful life.

The department's squad truck serves as a mobile tool shed with equipment for firefighter use. Storage areas on the truck have been reconfigured and expanded to permit the vehicle to carry new life safety and fire rescue tools.

"It carries all our extrication equipment, ventilation equipment, and medical equipment," said Capt. Don Champey. "It's a multi-purpose vehicle."

"We were able to modify it to serve our needs," said Capt. Don Champey. "There was a substantial cost savings."

The vehicle rehabilitation was paid from the department's maintenance fund.

The reconditioned vehicle can now carry newer models of equipment and holds more.

"The squad (truck) is about eight years old now." Reconditioning the vehicle not only saved money, but also saved time. A replacement vehicle would not have been available for approximately a year.

"This took a week," said Champey.

Equipment has been replaced and added as part of the rehabilitation process. "The power unit that was on there was an original," he said. The new power unit permits the use of multiple tools simultaneously.

"It is more effective at the scene of an accident," he said. People can be extricated faster with Hurst brand "Jaws of Life" and a "Cutting Tool."

The Jaws of Life spreads open two pieces of metal.

The Cutting Tool works as a large pair of tin-snips to cut through metal. "They're not sharp; it's more force that cuts the metal," said Champey.

OUIs double, accidents 0 for summer season

On the Chain patrol

By LEE FILAS
Staff Reporter

Marine Deputies make safety priority on busy Chain O' Lakes

It happens almost every night on the Chain O' Lakes. "Mars Lights" are seen, two boats come together and two men wearing badges climb from one boat to the other.

This is the Lake County Sheriff's Marine Unit, police officers on the water. Their job, like their landlocked counterparts, is to serve and protect.

"We have been mandated by the Lake County Sheriff's Department to maintain boating safety," said Bruce Scottberg, Lake County Marine Unit Commander. "Our headquarters are in Fox Lake, but the unit entails the entire Chain O' Lakes region, from the Wisconsin border to the Lake/Cook county line, including Lake Michigan as well as some inland lakes.

The inland lakes include Gages Lake, Grass Lake, Third Lake, Round Lake, Deep Lake, Cedar Lake and any other inland lake in the county.

"We try to hit them all in a season," Scottberg continued. "Mostly, we are on the lakes that we have contracts with, like Gages Lake and Third Lake, but we eventually make our way to all of them to check boaters for safety."

The job of the marine unit is to monitor and respond to any complaint that happens on the water, as well as to check boats for safety equipment.

One of the biggest jobs the marine unit is responsible for is to check for intoxicated boat operators on the Chain.

"Drinking on a boat is not illegal in the state of Illinois," Scottberg said. "But being intoxicated while driving a boat is. A person must abide to the state blood alcohol level of .08."

According to Scottberg, there have been no boating accidents on the Chain this year, partially because of the new laws, but also because of the time and energy the marine unit is putting into keeping offenders off the water.

"In an automobile, patrolmen can pull you over for probable cause or for an equipment malfunction," Scottberg said. "On the water, we are able to pull you over at any time for any reason."

Scottberg said that the marine unit may stop any boat to perform a mandatory safety inspection.

"With a safety inspection, officers will check for life preservers and life vests, look for a horn or some type of siren, check battery connections and make sure fire extinguishers are in working order," Scottberg said. "At that time, we can detect if there are possible drinking infractions happening on the boat."

Pat Priller of the Lake County Sheriff's Marine Unit writes the results of a routine safety inspection as Officer Andy Anderson checks Spring Grove resident Chris Irocky's boat for flotation devices on Nippersink Lake Wednesday.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

If a person does appear to be intoxicated, Scottberg said that a field sobriety test is given on the scene.

"The test is performed on the water and, sometimes, the alphabet test is given," Scottberg said. "When someone is over the legal limit, reciting the alphabet is extremely difficult to do."

Due to this type of enforcement, Scottberg noted that operating a water vehicle under the influence of alcohol (OUI) arrests have almost doubled in the last year.

After a person is deemed intoxicated, he will be transported to land, where another field sobriety test is given, as well as a person will be asked to submit to a breathalyzer test.

If the person refuses the breathalyzer exam, his boating privileges may be suspended for two years.

However, most marine officers will not pull someone over on a whim. It usually takes another law being broken to arise the curiosity of the marine unit.

"One of the main activities that arouse our suspicion is watching people disregard the no wake zones," Scottberg said. "When someone is under the influence, it's difficult to judge distances. They will enter a wake zone hot."

Hot is the term used when people have the throttle open, causing the boat to pitch up slightly. The people who are intoxicated drive into the "No Wake Zone" area, creating a wake behind the boat.

"These people don't throttle back until well into the zone," Scottberg said. "These zones are not allowed to have any wake at all, and speeds are supposed to be under five miles per hour.

"Boats will come in there hot because the people driving are either not paying attention or are impaired with alcohol," Scottberg said. "These people could possibly be involved in a future boating accident."

However, according to Scottberg, aside from alcohol related offenses, the most annoying thing in the water today are boats with loud mufflers.

"I've seen some loud boats," Scottberg explained. "These boats have real loud exhaust systems and other problems. It drives me nut."

Other major complaints on the Chain include people driving unsafe or recklessly while skiers or swimmers are in the water and personal water craft, like jet-skis are a main complaint heard from boaters.

"Personal water craft sometimes really upset the boaters because of the way they are driven," Scottberg said. "Personal water craft are a lot of fun to operate, but they can be dangerous."

According to Scottberg, the most vocal complaint is when personal water craft skim behind a boat and jump the wake the boat leaves behind. This can sometimes lead to collisions by inexperienced drivers of the boat or the personal water craft.

A new favorite law of Scottberg's is personal flotation devices for children.

"This law also includes kids who are fishing or riding or anything else," Scottberg continued. "This is an extremely good law for kids."

Gun Stoppers will pay a reward of $100 for information leading to the recovery of an illegal gun in a public place.

Crime Stoppers feels safety in our schools, on our school buses and playgrounds should be a top priority in our community. We urge all students in the Lake County area to immediately contact Crime Stoppers at (847) 662-2222 to report information on any person who illegally possesses a firearm in a public place.

Gun Stoppers ofrece una recompensa de $100 por información que nos guie al descubrimiento de arma de fuego que son ilegales en lugares públicos.

Crime Stoppers piensa que la seguridad en nuestras escuelas, en nuestras autobus escolares y en nuestras áreas de recreo, deben tener para nosotros prioridad.

Comuníquese inmediatamente con Crime Stoppers al telefono (847) 662-2222 para reportar información sobre cualquier persona que ilegalmente traiga un arma de fuego a un lugar público.

As always, the caller will remain anonymous.

GETTING OLDER DOES NOT MEAN GETTING ARTHRITIS

Osteoarthritis, also known as degenerative joint disease, is considered "classic" arthritis, and its onset is generally attributed to a lifetime of wear-and-tear on the body. Since not everyone gets osteoarthritis, there are obviously other causative factors. Some research has indicated that poor protein metabolism may weaken the joints and makes them more vulnerable to the effects of structural stress.

Faulty calcium metabolism may also be implicated in osteoarthritis. Long-term causes of the disease often exhibit calcium deposits in the joints. This does not necessarily indicate an excess of calcium in the body, but suggests that minerals are not being properly utilized.

There are certain steps you can take to help prevent joint diseases. One step is to maintain structural integrity so that imbalances do not put undue stress on certain joints. It is important to eat a nutritionally sound diet and be evaluated for proper nutrient absorption. Your chiropractor will be happy to answer any questions you may have about the prevention and treatment of arthritis.

If maintaining your health and reducing stress is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Our clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.)

Jaycees bring circus to Oakland School

Kelly-Miller Circus performers will pitch a tent and entertain folks at Oakland Elementary School Tuesday, Sept. 15 at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The show will feature elephants, horses, dogs, and a cast of performers under a big circus tent.

The event is sponsored by Antioch Jaycees as a fund-raiser for their community projects.

The Kelly-Miller circus was founded during The Great Depression. It celebrates 60 years of family entertainment performances in 1998. The circus was founded by Obert Miller and sons Kelly and Dore.

The tent raising itself is a free show that begins at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. The public is invited to watch the tent go up.

Tickets are $5 for children 12 and under and $7 for adults.

Advance purchase ticket sales allow families to save money as well as contribute to the support of the Antioch Jaycees.

Tickets are available at State Bank of The Lakes in Grayslake, Gurnee, and Antioch. First National Bank—Employee Owned has tickets at their locations in Gurnee and Antioch. The Antioch Piggy Wiggly also has tickets available.

Chamber hosts golf outing

Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry officials will host a golf outing on Wednesday, Sept. 16, starting at 10 a.m., at the Antioch Golf Club.

There are still opportunities available for participation. Reservations may be made at 847-395-6000 or at the Chamber offices at 847-395-2233.

Golf and dinner will cost $75. Golf only is $50, and dinner only is $25.

Hawley to speak at Aglow breakfast

The Antioch Chapter of Aglow International will host its monthly breakfast at Hunter Country Club Saturday, Sept. 19 in Richmond starting at 9:25 a.m.

Gwen Hawley, a social worker from Lake Geneva High School, will speak at the breakfast.

Hawley graduated from Oral Roberts University and received a master's degree from Aurora University. She is a licensed manicurist and a designer of jewelry and clothing with her own business.

The cost for the breakfast is $7.50. Reservation may be made at 815-648-2166, 815-648-2744, and 414-942-9640. The deadline for reservations is Thursday, Sept. 17.

The next best thing to Christmas

Well, there are no dishes piling up in the sink, and the living room still remains free of Barbie dolls, games and Legos, even though it is 10 a.m. in the morning. The beds are all made, and three loads of laundry hang on the clothesline blowing in the gentle breeze.

Pool toys blow around on the surface of the water, undisturbed, and no wet towels hang from the deck. The driveway is free of bicycles, roller blades and sidewalk chalk. All the helmets hang on their hooks in the garage while the sand-box toys sit unused on their shelf in the shed.

Basketballs, baseballs, soccer balls and football sit in their crates, idle. Jump ropes and Koosh's have been tucked away in backpacks for school yard recess.

The refrigerator is spilling with Lunchables and juice boxes; the pantry holds boxes of snack size treats. In the kitchen drawer sits an abundance of sandwich bags and plastic silverware waiting to perform their duties in school cafeterias around the county.

Nestled between all the calendars, lunch menus, and sports schedules on the front of the refrigerator is the first artwork of the year, created by creative little hands.

A hush falls over the house as background music whispers from the CD player. Mom enjoys her cup of tea and the morning paper. The clock ticks off the minutes as the time approaches to be off to lunch room duty, room mom meetings, or perhaps chauffeuring offspring to various afternoon functions.

All too soon, the quiet of the day will be interrupted by the slamming of the back door and the howls of rambunctious children returning from their day of making their mark on the world. The afternoon routine of homework, snacks, dinner, baths, and bedtime will resume and preparations for the next day will begin.

Clothes will be laid out, lunches will be packed, backpacks will be readied. The alarm clock will, all too soon, shatter the morning stillness as the days' fast-paced routine begins once again.

Teachers are often quoted as saying, "the best three things about teaching is June, July and August." Stay-at-home moms have nine reasons to love their chosen profession—starting with September.

And so goes another, "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Footlights planning underway, openings for volunteers

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Footlights hits the limelight in early-November, but the planning has been underway since last year's event.

The organizing committee now is looking for volunteers, is organizing events that people love to attend, and expects to create another strong community entertainment event that also helps St. Peter's School.

St. Peter's School Footlights will occur on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 6 and 7 and 13 and 14. It is a two-weekend event.

"We've been meeting on a regular basis since March," said Linda Pedersen, one of Footlight's organizing committee members.

"It is the largest fund raiser we have that benefits the school," she said. "This is our 16th year."

"We have sponsors who have been with us from the beginning." However, Pedersen said that the committee wants to get more people involved in this year's event. "We're looking for volunteers and chairmen for three rooms," she said. "We've got three rooms we need to fill yet."

Those who are interested in participation can contact her at 847-395-7000 or 847-395-1384.

Pedersen said that Footlights is a volunteer event in all aspects. People who tend bars, provide security, wait on tables, organize entertainment rooms, serve as event chairmen, and sell tickets are all volunteers. According to Pedersen, it is the people behind the scenes that make Footlights as successful as it is.

The comedy, music, food, and entertainment that makes up the Footlights experience is managed by a group of several people.

"We have two new committee members this year," she said. They are people who previously have been room-managers.

Room-managers organize volunteers for specific entertainment events in the elaborately decorated classrooms of the school.

Pedersen encourages people to become involved.

Antioch jumps out to impressive start on gridiron

After two weeks of the high school football season, the story that sticks out in my mind so far is that of the Antioch High School varsity team. Antioch has outscored its first two opponents 82-0 in two games, putting up impressive numbers for a team that was one game above .500 last year.

The Sequoits played their last game with the memory of Ryan Clutts on their minds. The ACHS senior was killed in a motorcycle accident, and was a varsity player on the baseball and basketball teams, and a three-year football player. He will be missed.

Sequoits dedicate season to Clutts

Fallen ACHS athlete in players, fans hearts

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

There was a football game played on a Thursday night in southern Wisconsin handily won by Antioch.

The extenuating circumstances of a death of a popular athlete almost made the game itself a footnote. Ryan Clutts was on the minds of players from Antioch before, during and after a 40-0 whitewash of Westosha.

"We all lost a good friend. Brandon (Ryan's brother) will need our help. We showed how much we cared. You have 40 to 50 brothers here," said kicker Dan Shaughnessy.

Shaughnessy was selected by coach Del Pechauer to address the team about the death of Clutts on Sept. 2 in a motorcycle accident. Team members signed a football, passed around a sympathy card and dedicated their season to Clutts.

"I was selected by coach Pechauer to address the team. We all played like he was watching us. He was a very down-to-earth person," said quarterback Don Lackey.

Shaughnessy said the team was intense during warm-ups, so their fallen Sequoit could hear them. Many hugs were exchanged and blue ribbons worn by Antioch players. The game itself was arranged that day.

"Ryan's mom passed out the blue ribbons when we gathered at their house last night," said Shaughnessy.

Clutts played basketball and baseball as well as football for three years. He rested an injured shoulder this fall, electing not to play football. Clutts, who would have been 18 last Thursday, was expected to attend a pitching camp at the University of Illinois last weekend.

Antioch scored a quick 27 points, then rested its veterans for much of the final three quarters. A 34-0 half-time lead put the game in the bag as emotions began to run high among the cardinal and gray.

"They were so excited the whole game. No one wanted to come out," said coach Del Pechauer.

Lackey scored the first touchdown as Antioch's defense had forced good field position. A 14-yard scamper led to a 6-0 lead with the game less than four minutes old.

"The offensive line did a great job. I don't think they (the Westosha defense) knew I had the ball," said Lackey.

Senior Matt Ingram was on the receiving end of a 14-yard strike from Lackey after a second three-and-out series by the Falcons.

Jim Richardson's blocked punt and 31-yard run resulted in the third score seconds later.

Sophomore Brian Johnson completed the first quarter barrage with an 11-yard run for the 27-0 margin.

The lone long drive of the first half resulted in a 4-yard run by Brandon Francke as Antioch's running game topped 150 yards by halftime.

Senior Adam Podstawa tallied the final score on a 6-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Antioch's offense has a 41 points-per-game average in two games, but Pechauer & Co. know the Zion-Benton clash Sept. 12 will be a challenge. It opens North Suburban Conference play. Antioch's young defense will have to try and stop the Zion wishbone.

Now the Sequoits have a higher level to aim for - trying to play like the teenager who wore No. 2—Clutts.

Antioch girls tennis ends Grant's winning streak

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Two wins in doubles and a marathon win in singles went Antioch's way as the Sequoits edged Grant.

Antioch won 3-2 in non-conference, early-season action. Improvement was the watchword for both teams as Antioch notched its first win while Grant saw a three-match win streak end.

"Whether leaving the court after winning the match or losing, the Sequoits report their scores and then ask, 'O.K., coach, I was doing this but how do I improve my drop shot, or, what type of formation should we have used in this situation.' It makes a coach proud when his players can self analyze a game and then have the motivation and determination to fix the problem," said ACHS coach Bryan Plinske.

Antioch's Silvia Skripkauskaitė and Molly O'Keefe were evenly matched in a battle which challenged the amount of sunlight this Tuesday afternoon. Antioch prevailed in the key struggle 7-6, 4-6, 7-3.

The battle lasted two hours, 40 minutes.

Cede Ortegá of Grant renewed her rivalry with Mandy Hughes of Antioch at No. 2. Ortegá won 6-4, 6-3.

Annie Smit of Grant downed Heather Zeman of Antioch 6-1, 6-2 at No. 3 singles. Both are usually doubles players.

Antioch secured the win with two wins at doubles.

At No. 1, Erin Boody and Ericka Johnson of Antioch downed Shelly Bosserman and Jenny Sheble of Grant 6-2, 6-0.

"Erin and Ericka attacked the net well and defended their position when Grant was on the attack," said Plinske.

Kristen Jensen and Jenny Rodgers of Antioch beat Amy Springer and Geri Quirk 6-2, 6-0 at No. 2 doubles.

"Our doubles teams could have played better and have played better. Antioch came to play at doubles. Grant went through the motions," said Garlanger.

Antioch hosts its own quad meet Sept. 12.

Game moved to facilitate mourners

The decision to move a football game from the traditional Friday night time slot to the day before acknowledged the death of a popular player had on his school.

Antioch High School officials worked with Central High in Westosha, Wis. officials to move the varsity game to Thursday. A sophomore game had already been scheduled for that day, a norm for Wisconsin prep football schedules.

It was a large and emotional at times crowd which backed the Sequoits in a 40-0 win. Players dedicated the season to Ryan Clutts, a former teammate who died Sept. 3.

"The mood is somber, obviously. Ryan was so well liked. A great deal of students knew him. They received energy from competing, but when the games ended, reality set in. I am sure they will bounce back. I am proud of the kids and appreciative to Westosha for moving the game," said Jim Kafer, Antioch athletic director.

The affect of Clutts' death could be felt two days later at a cross country meet.

Lindenhurst Fastpitch plans clinic after winning summer

Lindenhurst Fastpitch Softball has completed its fifth, and in the view of its director, most successful season at all levels.

"It is due to the growth of our players. Our two oldest teams did the best and many of them have been with us two to four years," said Mitch Kotlarz, head coach.

Two new teams came into the program, with a long-awaited 12 and under team for the youngest players.

"Our major goal is to promote softball with an October clinic through spring and teach it the right way with proper fundamentals," said Kotlarz.

The Lindenhurst Fastpitch teams draw from Warren, Antioch, Zion-Benton, Round Lake, Grayslake, Johnsburg and Richmond-Burton areas. Some squads play more than 50 games, including weekend tournaments.

Kotlarz is a veteran of softball wars, playing both the 16 and 12 inch variety.

The indoor off-season hitting and pitching clinic begins on Oct. 1 at Millburn Grade School, from 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m. The cost for the twice-weekly session is $50. Any player anticipating on trying out for the traveling teams is encouraged to participate. For details, call Kotlarz at 356-9547 or Steve Haenchen at 265-0749. Tryouts for the 1999 teams will be Jan. 10.

A look at of how the Fastpitch softball teams fared this past summer:

The Legend, 18 and under, completed the season with a 40-18 record. Accomplishments included first place in the Freeport Classic, second place at the Legends of Softball tournament and third place at the Milwaukee Invaders and fourth at the Geneseo Invitational.

The Raiders 16 and under, completed with a 42-17 record. The Raiders took first place in the Legends of Softball tournament as well as Milwaukee Invaders tournament. Two fourth place trophies were earned at the Rockford Invitational and at Reedsburg, Wis. tournament. The Raiders also were competitive at the Quad Cities and Geneseo tournaments.

The Sequoits 15 to 17 team had a .600 winning percentage in its first year. It was runner-up at the Legends of Softball tournament.

The Bullets 14 and under team: completed with a 24-29 record. The squad won the consolation bracket at the Rockford Invitational. They played well in league play, finishing in a three-way tie for first place in the North Suburban Fastpitch League, Division Three conference. At Rockford, the team was battling for a .500 season, but only had one win in five games.

The Magic 12 and under team had its first season as the youngest team with a 7-23 record. The squad improved greatly during the season. It was fourth in the North Suburban Fastpitch League. The Magic advanced to the semifinals of the Trevian tournament, falling by a 4-2 margin. The Magic was fifth at Rockford.

Logan leads ACHS in two dual wins

Antioch High junior golfer Jon Logan set the pace as the Sequoits won two dual meets.

Logan was medalist with a 37 score in a 163-198 Antioch win over Round Lake. He had a 39 in a 164-169 closer win over Zion-Benton.

Antioch fell short of its goal of breaking 400 for a team score in a McHenry meet.

"It was a tough meet, but we did not do too badly. We tried to get to 400 and had 414," said ACHS coach Roger Alm.

The 414 score was good enough for sixth place.

Logan had a 79, followed by Dan Clarke's 82; Ryan Clutter an 83; Mike Zeller an 84 and Phil Delany an 86.

Alm said the sophomores are playing well. Andrew Kinney led the way with a 39.

Antioch hosts its own meet Sept. 12.

UNDERCLASS ROUND-UP

ANTIOCH Football

Antioch High's freshmen football team had some bright spots in a season-opening loss to Plainfield.

Plainfield beat the Sequoits 15-0 on Saturday.

Dan Hillberg and Scott Reinhill shared QB duties for Antioch.

"We did two or three things well on defense, but then shot ourselves in the foot. As a team, the effort was pretty good," said coach Paul Petty.

The freshmen squads have about 50 members.

ACHS sophomores lost a close 8-6 battle.

Golf

Antioch High's junior varsity girls golf team is off to a 3-0 start.

The Sequoits downed Evanston 231-303; Westosha Central 231-260 and Hersey 239-259.

The JV team battles Barrington Sept. 9.

Dellaria balances running and soccer in fall for Sequoits

The Antioch High fall sports schedule, it is safe to say, is probably consulted often at the Dellaria home. Joel Dellaria needs to keep up with the latest soccer and cross country meets. He is a member of both Sequoit varsity teams.

"He trained with us all summer. He ran a two-mile in 10:28. He said he was thinking about it. His Dad, and the athletic director all agreed it was OK to try both sports," said ACHS coach Steve Judson.

Dellaria, a senior, led the Sequoits at the Crystal Lake South meet with a 18:54, for 15th place.

Judson said he hopes Dellaria can make about half of the ACHS cross country meets.

Dellaria played club level soccer this spring. He said friends talked to him about the sport which ends its meets in shoots.

Judson was overall pleased with his team's effort Saturday.

Ryan Rothermel suffered an eye injury, but it is unknown if he will miss any meets. He had a good week, winning ACHS' own invite.

Jim Meyer, third in ACHS meet, was 23rd overall in 19:59; Steve Mengyan was 53d, 21:06; Lucas Newhas 67th with 21:55 and Tim Gastafson, 81st, 23:11.

The boys were seventh out of 12 teams.

Antioch had 45 points to win its own invite on a 3.0 mile course.

Jessica Sladeck led the girls effort from ACHS in 15:32. Lauren Steinburg was next, 32d overall, at 16:38. The two were the top two runners at ACHS.

The next three runners all placed in the 40s at CL South. Jenny Hughes was 42, 17:19; Danielle Rudnick, 45th, 17:33 and Erin Beinecke, 47th, 17:40.

Both teams are at the Wauconda Invitational at Lakewood Forest Preserve on Sept. 12. Antioch hosts Warren and Libertyville Sept. 14 in a North Suburban Conference meet.

Groh sets pace for ACHS girls golfers

Antioch High's girls golf team would like more of these busy weeks.

No less than five teams battled against the Sequoits and all came up short.

"We were 5-0 last week. We are off to an 8-0 start, and that is just a fine job," said ACHS coach Steve Wapon.

First up was Deerfield and Buffalo Grove. The Sequoits won 187-195 over Deerfield while Buffalo Grove had 194.

Sara Groh was the leader for Antioch with a 43. Kristen Hungarland and Veronica Pazanin were close behind with 45 and 47. Karen Drengler had a 52.

In a make-up meet, Antioch had 200 strokes to Tremper's 232 and Palatine's 233. Pazanin was medalist for the meet with a 46. Groh had a 49, Hungarland a 53 and Brittany Cable a 52.

Groh rewrote the record books at the first North Suburban Conference meet at Arboretum Golf Course. She had a 39.

"She had two birdies, three pars, three boggies, one double boggie. She smiled afterward and said she only used one golf ball. That score is a record for the course and our school record was in the 40s. It was a tremendous nine-hole match. Veronica and Sara have been taking turns as the team leaders. They are best at minimizing bad holes," said Wapon.

Antioch downed Stevenson 194-203 in the NSC opener.

ACHS is at a tough Waukegan meet Sept. 12.

The junior varsity is also off to a strong start, 7-0.

Carrie Noonan, Jenny Barbera, Carrie Cybul, Mary Stringer, Melissa Mitchell, Jessica Hofub and Elizabeth Vanlerberghe have contributed at both varsity and JV.

Typhoon take first in Barrington Gatorade Classic

Perhaps after finishing second last year the Lindenhurst Typhoon had something to prove. In the Barrington Labor Day Gatorade Classic Tournament the Typhoon (Boys, U11, NISL Gold) had an overall record of 4-0 which earned them first place in the U11 division.

In the first round of play the Typhoon faced three opponents and won all three games. In the first game the Typhoon took the field against the Parkridge Stingrays and immediately put them on the defensive as Typhoon forward Zach Barret took a pass from Darren Nordstrom and lifted a beautiful shot over the Stingray goalie. In the second half Barrett showed some game savvy as he quickly took the kick for a tripping penalty before the Stingrays could get into position and that brought the score to 2-0. Alex McKenzie finished the scoring for the Typhoon when he received a pass from teammate Jason Moxley and then shot past the Stingray goalie. The final score of the game was 3-0. The defensive efforts of sweepers Brett Carlson and Eric Voight stood out as well as the play of goalies Kyle Kozuch and Darren Nordstrom.

The second game foreshadowed the final match up as the Lindenhurst

Typhoon played the Hoffman Predators and came away with a 4-1 victory. The Predators gave the Typhoon a scare as they got on the board first, but the Typhoon quickly answered as forward Alex McKenzie took a strong shot from 20 yards out that sailed cleanly into the top of the net to tie the game at one all. The second half was all Typhoon as forwards Darren Nordstrom, Aidan Moran and Zach Barrett each scored, Barrett with the assistance of Joe Barlow.

In the third game the Typhoon faced perhaps their toughest challenge of the tournament as they played the BASA Blitz and came away with a well earned 1-0 victory. The lone goal for the Typhoon was scored by Zach Barrett in the first half. Barrett had missed three previous attempts, but got another breakaway and popped the ball by the Blitz goalie. The Typhoon defense was simply superb as fullbacks, Alan Kroeger and Brett Carlson and sweeper Eric Voight just would not let the Blitz through. When the occasional shot was taken goalies Kyle Kozuch and Brett Carlson were up to the challenge.

The two teams that made it to the finals were determined by the number of points earned in the first round and even though the Hoffman Predators had lost to the Typhoon in round one they were able to garner enough points in other matches to earn a rematch. It was a very hard fought match and there was no score at the end of the first half. The Typhoon dominated much of the play, but were having trouble finishing off scoring attempts. Early in the second half Zach Barrett sent a hard shot that bounced off the Predator goalie and Danny Braun trapped the rebound and put the ball away for the score. The score remained 1-0 until near the end of the game when Darren Nordstrom took a shot that also bounced off the goalie and Typhoon the entire game and made a number of good saves. The Typhoon defense also deserves credit for keeping the Predators at bay.

The Typhoon finished with a 4-0 record and the tournament title for the U-11 division. For supposedly being a weekend of rest the Typhoon worked very hard in the heat and showed what they could do, playing up to their promise.

I&M Canal featured at Historical Society meeting

KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Members of the Lakes Region Historical Society will hear about local connections to the construction of the Illinois and Michigan Canal. The public is invited to the Thursday, Sept. 24 meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Earl and Barbara Beese will present a program about the sesquicentennial commemoration of the opening of the I&M Canal, and the work of Barbara Beese's great-great grandfather, Theophilus Greenwood, who built a section of the canal.

"It will be a narrative of how the family arrived and got in business in Chicago," Barbara Beese said. "There's a lot of interesting things about Theophilus that we will tell in the presentation."

"He had men who worked for him in the building of the canal," Beese said.

Earl and Barbara Beese also will discuss the state's celebration of the canal's 150th anniversary and display pictures of the festivities.

Special events have been planned by the State of Illinois to celebrate the canal's opening. "It will be a year-long celebration," Beese said.

Barbara Beese said that Theophilus Greenwood had a lot to do with some of the original builders of the City of Chicago. Greenwood worked with people after whom Chicago streets are now named, such as Hubbard and Kinzie.

As an early settler of Illinois, Beese was invited to attend the I&M Canal ceremonies in April at the park near the entrance to Navy Pier.

The September meeting of the Lakes Region Historical Society will have a short business meeting before guest speakers Earl and Barbara Beese make their presentation.

Refreshments will be served. For more information, people may call Robert Lindblad, 847-395-0899, and Nancy Binder, 847-395-1453.

This program was originally scheduled for June, but had to be postponed because of a power failure at that time.

Rotary pork chop dinner, hopper raffle on horizon

Antioch Rotary Club members host their annual pork chop barbeque and auction Saturday, Oct. 3 at Peter Church's Father Hanley Social Center.

The auction consists of a live hog as well as a silent auction. There will be a raffle for a 1999 Harley-Davidson Sportster motorcycle.

Dinner is from 5 to 7 p.m. and auction follows from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at The Advertiser, First National Bank—Employee Owned, State Bank of The Lakes, or from any Rotarian. Tickets cost $15.

"In the past 10 years, the Antioch Rotary Club has made community donations totaling over $650,000," said Colleen Osmond, a member of Rotary.

Additional information is available from Osmond at 847-395-2500.

Weeks message board donated for Polley Field

A message board has been donated to Antioch Community High School to honor the memory of a former student.

"This is a message board for Polley Field in memory of Brian Weeks," said school Principal Dr. Jim Love.

The message board is a 3 by 6 by 4-foot aluminum cabinet mounted on two 4 by 4 inch posts with a cedar shake overhang.

Kevin, Connie, and Justin Weeks had the donation announced at the Thursday, Sept. 3 ACHS board meeting.

Justin Weeks is a senior class student at ACHS.

"This is especially satisfying to us as Brian played many years of both park district and high school soccer at these fields, and soccer was the love of his life," the family said in a statement read at the meeting.

'There's so much to entertain us these days that children don't develop their own imagination'

Where the boys are Michael Jordan ... And the girls get rescued by Prince Charming

children explore their own imaginations*

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

It's a place where children romp with dinosaurs, become kings or queens of medieval villages or whiz past planets in a space shuttle.

Many boys become Michael Jordan and girls get to be rescued by prince charming, inside these walls.

But this isn't Disney World. It's the Let's Pretend Theme Party and Entertainment Center in Mundelein.

While the Lake Street building is inconspicuous on the outside, it is a paradise for creative children and parents on the inside.

Eight theme rooms and more than 1,000 costumes give children all they need to let their imaginations soar.

"It doesn't matter how old you are," said Isabel Kenebeck, who founded Let's Pretend nearly five years ago. "I see daddies who are doctors and lawyers on stage singing and dancing."

Kenebeck said that of the eight theme rooms, the Hollywood Room is the most popular. Here, children dress up as actors, singers or dancers and perform on a stage equipped with a glittering curtain, karaoke machine and spotlights. The costumes, jewelry and accessories are from many eras.

"I wanted this room because my best friend's kids and my grandchildren put on skits and liked having audiences," Kenebeck said.

The Space Room, also quite popular, was the idea of Kenebeck's husband. It includes a mission control computer console, a space shuttle, a multi-media computer and a colorful mural depicting outer space.

"My husband is a Star Trekkie," she said.

For children who like dinosaurs, Kenebeck created the Dino Room. Here, children can explore a mysterious prehistoric jungle and dress up as cavemen or women, or even like the lovable purple dinosaur Barney.

The Super Heroes Room conveys an important message. A mural highlights not only Superman, Batman and Spiderman, but includes local heroes such as Mundelein's police, firemen and postal workers.

"This room helps kids learn who the real heroes are," said Kenebeck.

In the castle room, children can crown themselves as kings or queens and sit upon a golden throne. Tenebeck added this room because, "Every girl wants to become a princess and men like to be rulers."

Nearby, children can play as cowboys and Indians to their hearts' content in the Western Room or play-act their favorite fairy tales in the Enchanted Forest Room.

But a place for fantasizing would be incomplete if there weren't a room to fulfill a child's dream to be like Michael Jordan. The wide variety of costumes and accessories in the Sports Room enables children to become any number of sports stars, or even take up cheerleading.

Children can choose to play in any or all of the rooms.

"I like children and helping them explore their imagination," said Tenebeck.

She was encouraged as a child to be creative and wants the same thing for today's children.

"There's so much to entertain us these days that children don't develop their own imagination," she said. "We need to teach children to use those talents more."

It took a while for Tenebeck, who is a grandmother in her 50s, to come to the idea of starting Let's Pretend.

"I thought of opening a bagel and basket shop that would provide breakfasts and lunches," she said.

But friends and relatives suggested she become a wedding consultant because she was good at organizing events and creating themes for her own parties. She also had a knack for dressing, which she learned from her grandmother.

"My 92-year-old grandmother is a fashion

Watercross World Championships, Indian Summerfest set at Lambs Farm

Lake County residents will partake in a bounty of seasonal favorites from the Lambs Farm Pavilion while enjoying a day in the country packed full of fun for the entire family. Scarecrow making, pumpkin carving, painting, hay rides, games, raffles and much more take place during the fun day at Lambs Farm.

In addition to the various events taking place throughout the day, WXL and WKRS will be providing live entertainment such as comedians, singers, clowns and bands.

The event takes place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Lambs Farm in Libertyville. The event benefits and supports the Lambs Farm organization and creates family fun for Lake County residents.

Also, spectator's adrenaline will be pumping when they witness the fastest show on H2O-WATERCROSS '98. The Watercross season will come to an exciting end on Saturday, Sept. 26 and Sunday, Sept. 27 at the International Watercross Association World Championship held at Lambs Farm from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

What is Watercross? Snowmobile races on open water! That's right, this young sport features drag and oval races with snowmobiles reaching speeds of 85 mph. Over 80 professional racers will challenge 15-acre Lambs Lake at the event racing for over $10,000 in prize money. An amateur crossing will be held on Sunday from 8 to 10 a.m. A NIASC Snow Show featuring the latest in snowmobile equipment will also take place.

Admission to the races is $9 (age 7 and under are free) with a portion of the gate admission benefitting Lambs Farm. Parking is free. All are invited to enjoy Lambs Farm's regular shops and attractions, open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Picnic baskets and coolers are prohibited as all concession sales fund programs developed for the over 250 men and women with mental disabilities of Lambs Farm. For more information, call 326-6774.

THEATRE

'Changing Rainbows'

The "perfect marriage" and its well-intentioned participants teeter on the brink after an incident from the recent past threatens to redefine their solid foundation as a mere house of cards.

The worlds of art, marriage and heterosexual AIDS collide with thermonuclear force in local playwright Derrell Capes' new play. Richard Shavzin directs. The play opens Friday, Sept. 18 at 8 p.m. Regular performances are Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m.; and Sundays at 3 p.m. through Oct. 11, at Lucid Theatre, 941 W. Lawrence, Chicago. Tickets are $15. For more information, call (312) 409-6024.

An Ode to Judy Blume

The Annoyance Theatre is proud to announce the opening of the newest production of 'What Every Girl Should Know...An Ode to Judy Blume', directed by Susan Messing. 'What Every Girl Should Know...An Ode to Judy Blume' is a satirical tribute that intertwines three of Judy Blume's most loved classics: 'Are You There, God?' It's me...Margaret, 'Deenie' and 'Forever', celebrating the angst and horror of puberty, crooked spines and first loves.

The cast of 'What Every Girl Should Know'... consists of 15 gifted comedic actors that have been brought together from stages all over Chicago. Performances are through Nov. 6, Fridays at 8:30 p.m. Admission is $10. For more information, call Jonathan Browning at The Annoyance Theatre 3747 North Clark Street, (773) 929-6200 www.annoyance.com.

'The Meeting'

Bowen Park Theatre Company will hold auditions for Jeff Stetson's play 'The Meeting' on Dec. 5 and 6 from 1-4 p.m. at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., just off N. Sheridan Rd., in Waukegan. Call backs are scheduled from Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. 'The Meeting' will be directed by guest director Debrah Neal.

Needed are three black male actors to portray Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, and Rashad, Malcolm X's bodyguard. Production dates are Feb. 5, 6, 12, 13 at 8 p.m. and Feb. 7 and 14 at 3 p.m. There is a possibility of an additional run out performance.

'The Meeting' is about a fictitious meeting between the two great civil rights activists, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Malcolm X. It is poignant, witty, sometimes humorous, and catches the spirits of these two historic figures. Because the length of the play is just over one hour, additional materials will be used by the actors before the

SPECIAL EVENTS

YMCA Parent/Child fall program offered

Are you looking for some quality time to spend with your children? The Lake County Family YMCA Indian Guides and Princesses program offers scheduled activities geared toward family fun and togetherness. The purpose of the program is to develop the foundation for a lifelong relationship between parent and child. The program is open to any father or mother with a 5-11 year old child. In the absence of a father or mother, any adult relative or family friend may serve as the child's sponsor.

The past and present cultures of the American Indians challenges parents to be aware of their role as parent, guide, friend, and example, for a son or daughter. It also provides a common interest for both parent and child, as well as an exciting theme for activities, projects and special events. The aims of the program focus on family values, respect for others, and "to seek and preserve the beauty of the Great Spirit's work in forest, field, and stream."

All members belong to a tribe which may consist of 5-6 adults and their children. Tribal meetings are held once or twice monthly at a flexible scheduled time and date. Tribes belong to the Fox Nation, which consists of 2-024 tribes from various communities in northeastern Lake County. The Fox Nation holds monthly events where all the tribes get together. For more information, call the YMCA at 360-9622.

Popular bridge classes resume

Bridge instructor Ginny Schuett will teach "Refresher Bridge" on Mondays and "Beginning Bridge" on Tuesdays at Gorton Community Center, 400 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest, beginning Sept. 14. Both classes will be held from 1-3 p.m., and pre-registration is required.

"Refresher Bridge" will run on Mondays from Sept. 14-Nov. 2. This class includes distinguishing between forcing and nonforcing bids, Stayman, Jacoby transfers, and weak two bids with two clubs as the strong opening bid. All of these bids are tools in the modern bidding arsenal of good players. Students will update or reaffirm their bidding know-how. The fee is $70.

"Beginning Bridge" will be offered on Tuesdays from Sept. 15-Nov. 17 (no class on Oct. 20). This class is for those who have never played bridge and would like to try, as well as for the casual player who needs to reaffirm basic bidding skills to more fully enjoy the game. The fee is $80, and the club book is extra.

Interested participants should register and pay in advance. For more information, call 234-6060.

actual play.

Auditions will be by appointment only and actors are asked to call 360-4741 to set a time for their individual audition. Bowen Park Theatre Company is a professional, non-union, non-equity company. There is pay.

KIDS EVENTS

'The Invisible Dragon'

The Cultural Arts Division of the Waukegan Park Dist. announces the Kids Play production of 'The Invisible Dragon' on Oct. 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Bowen Park, Waukegan. Written by Patricia Clapp and directed by Margaret Schultz, this delightful musical tells of a kingdom where all is happy, that is everyone except the Princess. A Prince, on his quest to find a dragon, meets the Princess and the King learns that the Princess is always gloomy because she is missing one important thing...love. The King decides to keep the Prince around the kingdom by creating an invisible dragon for the Prince to pursue. The play ends happily with the joining of the Prince and Princess in marriage. Reservations are necessary and can be made by calling the Jack Benny Center for the Arts at 360-4741. Tickets are $4.00 a person. For more information, please contact Rik Covalinski, Performance Supervisor at 360-4741 at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Bowen Park, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Waukegan 60087.

Family fun-line

Chicago-area residents and visitors can now dial the new Free Family Fun Line to find quality activities and events available free-of-charge to the public, provided by TicketLine Ltd.

The Free Family Fun Line, which can be reached 24 hours a day by calling (312) TICKETS, is the only phone line that exclusively lists free Chicago-area activities with appeal for all members of the family. Most are educational or cultural in nature. The listings are changed daily and include the Art Institute of Chicago, the Field Museum of Natural History, the Museum of Science and Industry, the Chicago Historical Society, the John G. Shedd Aquarium, the Du Sable Museum of African American History, the Spertus Museum, the Terra Museum of American Art and other institutions, all of which offer free admission on certain days. The call to the Free Family Fun Line also is free (except for normal toll charges to downtown Chicago).

TicketLine also offers the Ticket Information Line, the "inside line" for events, schedules and ticket availability. The Ticket Information Line features a comprehensive listing of concerts, theatre, sporting events and other entertainment in the Chicago area.

Jazzin' at the Shedd

Visit Shedd Aquarium every Thursday night this summer for "Jazzin' at the Shedd." Now in its fourth season, Jazzin' keeps Shedd Aquarium open on Thursday nights until 10 p.m. See the dolphins, whales and penguins in the Oceanarium.

Visit with the 8,000 inhabitants of the Aquarium or just relax as live jazz bands perform against a spectacular backdrop of Chicago's skyline. Seahorse Symphony not only displays the wonder and beauty of seahorses, but the entire symphony of animals they're related to: cometfish, trumpetfish, pipefish, searagons and ghostfish.

Jazzin' runs through Sept. 24. The Oceanarium and Seahorse Symphony close at 8 p.m., and admission is $6 for adults, $5 for children (ages 3-11) and seniors. Aquarium admission is free on Thursdays. For more information, call (312) 939-2438.

Learn, dream, explore!

The Waukegan Community Players' Children's Theatre is offering workshops for children ages 7 to 14. The mission is to increase the children's knowledge of the theater and have fun while doing it. Waukegan Community Players is a non-profit organization and all proceeds will go to the development of productions for the community. Fee is $25 per child, per workshop. Upcoming workshops include: Sept. 23—6:30-8 p.m., Actor/Teacher Publicity; Oct. 7—6:30-8 p.m., Music & Choreography; and Oct. 22—6:30-8 p.m., Agent/Wrap up.

Is there really life after parenting?

We hauled Son Number Two's belongings up to college in Wisconsin this past weekend, and his roommate's parents were wistful. He was their youngest, and the last to trade home for dorm life. They wondered what they would do now that they were faced with "an empty nest."

I tried to look properly sympathetic, but it wasn't easy. I was too busy enjoying a few vicarious "empty nest fantasies" - of freedom, adult fun and a cartoon-free existence.

Of course, I won't be experiencing those fantasies until well into the next century. After 22 years of child-raising, I still have...at least 14 left to go. Which means that by the time my nest is empty, this old bird will be missing a lot more than just her "chicks" - like my teeth, my eyesight and my size 6 figure. (OK - the size 6 is a fib. I just wanted to see if you were paying attention.)

This is not the fault of my children - they can hardly be blamed for my poorly-spaced fertility habits. And having small children at my age really does keep me young. Heck, I look downright childish after a day of refereeing my two youngest offspring! By dinnertime, you might even find me in the corner, sucking my thumb and whining, "I just want quiet. One minute of quiet. Is that too much to ask? Waaaaah..."

My friends, whose children are already grown, sympathize with me - somewhat. I say this because I remember how quickly their attitudes about my "late in life" motherhood changed. Before my daughter was born, they were wistfully reliving their former days of mothering through me:

LIFE'S A BEAR

"Oh, you're so lucky! (sigh) I wish we had a little one again—I miss those days. And listen—anytime you need a baby-sitter, just call me. I'd love to watch her."

As soon as she was born, they quit all that "reliving" and started "remembering" reality:

"Hoo, boy, I'm glad I'm not in your shoes. Diapers and crying and staying up all night—I don't know how you do it!"

And those baby-sitting offers? Well, let's just say that if I took my dear friends to court, they'd all claim my pregnancy caused them to suffer "temporary insanity."

But that's okay - I can handle it. How? Because when all is said and done, I love my kids. And because I have a feeling that after spending so many years surrounded by children, my "empty nest fantasies" aren't going to turn out quite like I hope - more likely, they'll turn out like this:

The sun streaming through our bedroom window on Saturday morning wakes me up. I look over at the alarm clock - it's 9 am. I panic, and shake my husband. "Wake up! Something's the matter. It's 9: and no one woke us! There's no whining, no cartoons blaring, no fighting. Someone must have kidnapped our children!"

He yawns and pats my hand. "Relax - they're grown up now, remember?"

I feel silly. Of course I remember - well, at least I do now. The old memory isn't what it used to be.

I reach for my teeth in the cup on the side of the bed, put them in and walk slowly downstairs to make coffee.

When I reach the kitchen, the shock nearly gives me a heart attack.

"HONEY!" I scream. "Come here! The kitchen is clean! There's no soggy cereal in the sink drain and...oh, my goodness...the chairs are all pushed in around the table. Who could have done this?"

My husband comes down the stairs, shaking his head. "You did it last night, remember?"

"Last night?? And it still looks this way? This is weird."

When the coffee is finished, I pour us each a cup, and we sit down at the table together. He looks at me. I look at him.

"Say something," my husband says to me.

"I was going to, but I keep waiting for someone to interrupt me first." I answer.

He shakes his head again. "You miss the kids, don't you?"

"Me? What makes you say that?"

"Oh, I don't know."

"Speaking of the kids, do you think one of them will call today? It seems like just yesterday our youngest left home."

"It WAS yesterday."

Silence for a moment.

And another.

Finally, I can't stand it anymore. I get up and turn on the TV.

To the Disney Channel.

Free concerts, farmer's market highlight Prairie Crossing events

The concert schedule for Prairie Crossing's Friday night free concert series is as follows:

Sept. 11: Rollin' and Tumblin'. An acclaimed acoustic blues duo playing guitar and harmonica.

Sept. 18: Ruth Ann. Singing a montage of America's favorite song writers, including Peter, Paul and Mary and Paul Simon.

Sept. 25: Darwin and Marv. This big, theatrically voiced duo sang in Greenwich Village in the '60s.

Oct. 2: Dan Zahn. Hear the most soulful voice in Lake County sing his own enchanting songs.

Prairie Crossing's Friday night concert series runs in conjunction with the natural foods farmer's market and craft fair. The Farmer's Market will showcase these vendors:

Prairie Crossing's Farm: Tom and Deni Peterson grow certified organic vegetables without any chemical fertilizer, pesticide, or herbicide.

Butterfly Gardens: Our Casey Rd. neighbor grows organic produce in her home garden and wants to share her healthy harvest with us.

Royal Oak Farm: This Harvard orchard is in its sixth year producing apples, raspberries, blackberries, and honey.

Countryside Orchards:

Growing 22 varieties of apples.

Usborne Books: High quality children's books with sales benefitting the Prairie Crossing charter school.

Weavers and Spinners: Darryl Russell, a spinner from Gurnee demonstrates how she spins wool into yarn for her scarves and knitted teddy bears.

Foxwood Gardens: Hand-made bars of goatmilk soap with names like Very Rosemary and Lilly Lather are for sale.

Paul's Landscaping: Look for perennials, annuals, herbs and specialty plants.

Glanz Winery: This raspberry grower has been producing dessert and varietal wines for 110 years.

Charlotte Raasch: A massage therapist to relieve tension.

The Gourd People: See Joan and Lenny craft gourds into creative flights of imagination.

Prairie Crossing is located outside Byron Colby Barn; enter at stop light, on Route 45, between Casey Rd. and south of Route 120, across from Arbor Vista.

'Goodfellas' a must-see for gangster flick fans

With Ray Liotta starring in HBO's "The Rat Pack," and Robert De Niro starring in the soon to be released "Ronin," I thought it was time to reflect on video review

Brendan O'Neill

VIDEO PICK OF THE WEEK

GOODFELLAS

Rated R

Robert De Niro

Joe Pesci

Ray Liotta

the greatest gangster film in cinema history.

"Goodfellas" was released in 1991 and received rave reviews all across the country. It is the quintessential tale of life in organized crime during the 1960s and '70s.

With a nod to "The Godfather" as being the best film about a Mafia crime family, "Goodfellas" expands on that theme with a more in-depth look at how a kid can become involved and grow up in the Mafia, and shows the pitfalls of living that glamorous life.

"Goodfellas" is one of the best "wiseguy" films ever made, earning it the Best Picture Academy Award for 1991, and brandishing Ray Liotta as an up-and-coming actor. Above from left, Ray Liotta and Joe Pesci in a scene from the movie. Pesci earned the Best Supporting Actor award for his role as Tommy DeVito. The movie also stars acting veterans Robert DeNiro and Paul Sorvino. Martin Scorsese directed the film. Most video stores have "Goodfellas" available for rental.

This was the break-out movie for Ray Liotta, who played Henry Hill, and along with Joe Pesci, was nominated for an academy award. The film received the award for best picture, and Liotta was branded a budding star.

De Niro and Pesci play Jimmy Conway and Tommy DeVito, characters similar in nature to characters each has played in the past. But in "Goodfellas," each gives his character an added depth. Pesci's performance earned him the Best Supporting Actor award, and the film received six nominations, including Best Picture.

This video is a must-see, but for those of you who are a bit squeamish, be prepared to hide your eyes from time to time, as director Martin Scorsese depicts all aspects of gangster life—including the violence.

"Goodfellas" is an adaptation from Nicholas Pileggi's novel "Wiseguy." Pileggi's book was powerful in print, and Scorsese picked Pileggi's brain to make the film just as strong.

"Goodfellas" takes you through every part of the Mafia's life. From the extravagant parties and dinners at clubs, to the stealing and under the table business mixed with some "legitimate" business ventures; from family interactions to on-the-side girlfriends; from jail time to selling drugs, from hitmen to public showings of respect.

"Goodfellas" encompasses the rise and fall of a powerful crime organization, and is one of the best films of the 1990s—and if you ask me, one of the best of all time.

princess to this day. Her clothes are always perfectly matched," she said.

Let's Pretend, which Tenebeck opened in March of 1994, allows her to use her multiple talents in a way that benefits children and families.

"It's a way for parents and grandparents to interact and spend quality time with children," she said. "I like to see adults and children doing things together."

The entire facility can be booked for a private party where guests have exclusive use of all the theme rooms. Staff serve pizza, a personalized birthday cake and other snacks in the party room. The price for the PartyTime package ranges from $10.50 to $14.95 per child.

Children also can visit the center individually for an hour of play on weekdays for $6, or $9 if they would like tea and snacks afterwards.

Tenebeck says it is typical for the same children to visit again and again.

"I find when people do repeat parties they are psyched for what they will dress up as the next time," she said. "The more they come, the more they get into it."

HOROSCOPE CROSSWORD

Aries - March 21/April 20

When it comes to a disagreement at work, get straight to the point, Aries. Don't talk in circles; you'll only make yourself look inept. If you stand tall, the higher-ups are sure to listen to you. An old friend needs a favor from you. Do what you can to help, because the two of you used to be very close.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

You are out and about this week — even though you don't want to be. Business and personal obligations fill your calendar through Friday. Don't start off with a bad attitude. Things aren't going to be as bad as you think. You'll actually have a good time at some of the events. Enjoy yourself. Gemini plays a key role on Thursday.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Don't back down from a confrontation when you know that you're right. Stand your ground, and fight for what you believe in. Those around you will support your efforts. The person whom you've been dating stops calling. Don't get upset. You know that the magic just wasn't there.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

While work may be frustrating, Cancer, you're in for a good week overall. Superiors recognize your efforts and reward you. As for your personal life, friends and loved ones want to spend a lot of time with you. Enjoy yourself, and relax. You've earned it. Libra plays an important role.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Your outgoing nature wins you points with an important acquaintance. He or she likes your spunk and offers you an interesting proposition. Say yes, because there's a lot of opportunity here. That special someone wants to take a break. Don't fight it. Some time apart will help your relationship.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

This is not the week to go wild, Virgo. You have several things on your plate, and a lot of people are counting on you to get everything done. Don't let them down. Ask for help if you need it. Your friends and loved ones are always there for you. You meet an interesting person late in the week. Stay in touch with him or her.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

This is your week to shine, Libra. Things go well for you professionally, and you make great strides in the workplace. Your love life picks up by the end of the week also. The person whom you've been seeing wants to make a commitment. Say yes — you know this is what you really want.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Some bad news at work has you on edge. Try to remain calm. Get the full story before you start to panic. Things will work out for you — you just have to be a little patient first. A loved one needs your help. Even though you're busy, make time for him or her. You're the only person he or she can turn to.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

You have to be blunt to get your point across to an acquaintance during the middle of the week, Sagittarius. If you don't just come out and say it, you'll be stuck in a situation that you shouldn't be involved with. A close friend has good news. Help him or her celebrate.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

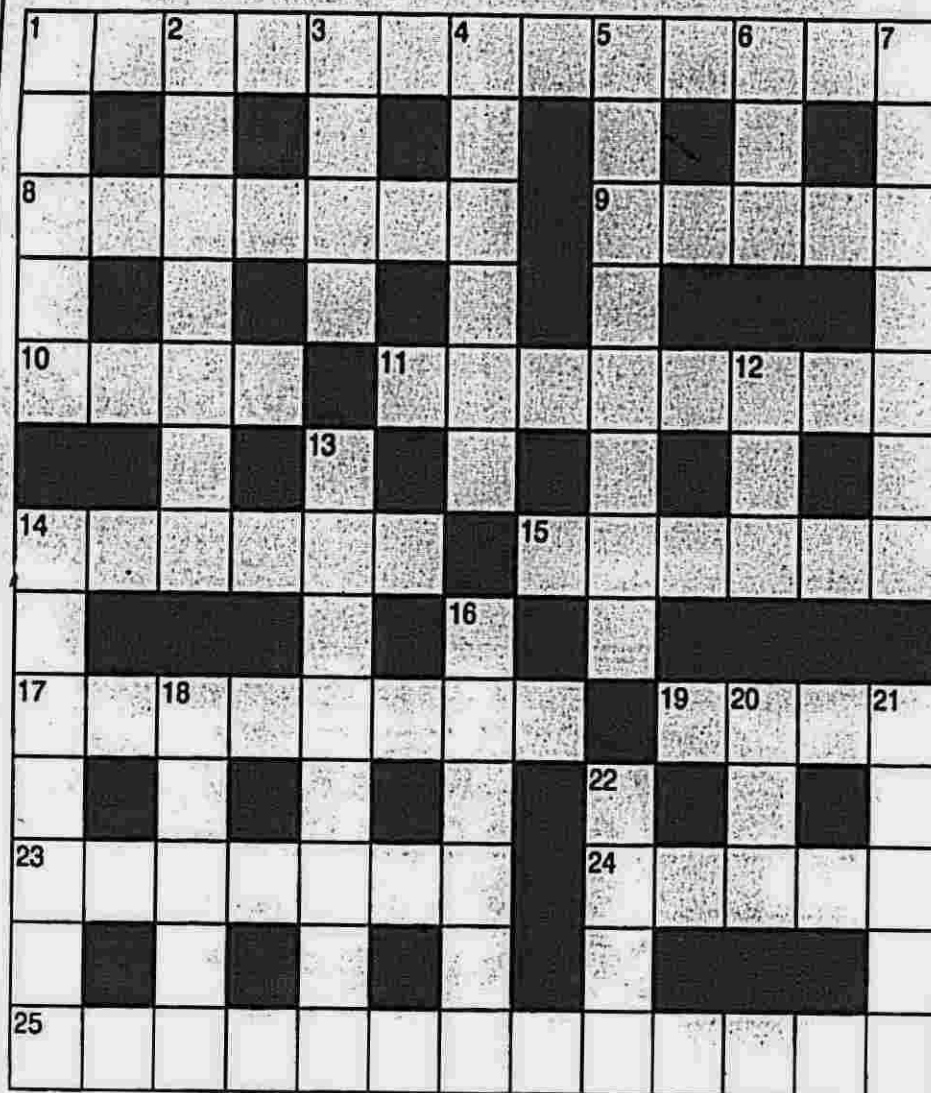

Some very important people are counting on you this week. Don't get distracted by those around you. Stay focused. Your diligence will be rewarded by the week's end. A family friend turns to you for help. Do what you can, and be there for him or her. Pisces plays a key role.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't overanalyze an argument with a loved one. Sometimes, people just need to vent. Things will be fine between the two of you in a couple of days. Just wait it out. That special someone wants to get you involved in a compromising situation. Say no. This isn't something you should be associated with.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Your efforts to lighten up an intense family discussion late in the week backfire. Don't get upset. Just help your loved ones to see both sides of the argument. A close friend gets into a difficult situation. As much as you want to help, don't get involved.

An Important Announcement to Illinois Homeowners with Equity . . .

What Would You Do With An Extra $3,600 to $12,000 per year?

How to Get a Fast Mortgage Loan To Pay Off All Your Bills (Even If You've Been Turned Down By A Bank Or Mortgage Company)

Rockingham, N.C. - Ray and Becky were frustrated. They'd bought the house 12 years ago and it was five years old when they moved in. Becky laughed out loud when she thought back to that time. Back then it seemed so big and beautiful. But now, 12 years and 3 kids later, the house felt small and run down. The house needed a new roof and her two youngest girls, Emily and Katie, were doubling up in the small 10 x 12 bedroom. Five years ago, Ray and Becky had a contractor come and talk to them about a new addition. Becky remembered how excited she and Ray both were. They even paid to have the plans drawn up. But that was the year before Ray lost his job at the plant. She poured herself another cup of coffee and recalled how depressed they both were. It was over a year before he got another job. And during that time, they got behind on everything.

No Summer Vacation

They were so strapped for money one summer, they couldn't even take Emily and Katie to the beach for a few days for their annual vacation. Sure they finally got all caught up when Ray went back to work, it took them two years and by that time it had ruined their previously perfect credit record, it was a vicious cycle. You know, getting paid on Friday, sitting down on Saturday to pay bills and running out of money before all the bills are paid.

"I Hit A Brick Wall"

After they got caught up they tried again to borrow the money for the addition. First they got turned down by the local bank, then a mortgage company in town rejected them. They just kept hitting the same brick wall. Even though Ray had gone back to work in another carpet mill making MORE money, the late payments that showed up on his credit reports scared the local banks and mortgage companies away. Ray felt like he was working JUST to pay his monthly bills and doing nothing for himself, Becky or the kids. Then he ran into Harvest Mortgage Company. Harvest helped him get a loan to pay off all his bills and consolidate everything into one single payment that was $358 lower than he had been making. That saved him a whopping $4,296 per year. TAX FREE. In the first year, that was enough money to close in the back porch, AND enough left over for new bikes for the kids.

Home Equity is the Key

Carole Eskew, Sr., V.P.

"If you have a minimum of 20% equity or more, there's a good chance we can help you save a lot of money every month by combining old bills and your old mortgage into one new and much lower payment. Or, we can help you get cash out of your home to buy a vacation home, start a business, whatever."

Compare your budget to this:

"I couldn't believe it. We closed our loan 9 days after the first day I talked to them on the phone."

Debbie C., Dallas

"We ended up paying off all our bills and rolling them all into one single payment. After we did, our total monthly payments dropped by almost $400 per month."

Billy and Judy, Columbus

"Thanks to you and your great company, we feel reborn. Words can not express the relief we feel. We are so glad this battle with the bills is almost over."

James and Laurie C.

Recent Loans Include:

- A $45,000 loan to a borrower in bankruptcy.
- A $100,000 loan to a borrower who couldn't verify income through tax returns.
- A $95,000 bill-consolidation loan that saved the borrower over $8,100 per year and a whopping $124,000 over the loan period.

(No singlewides, please)

No Ivory Towers

"When you apply for a loan at Harvest Mortgage, your loan request is reviewed and decided upon by the people right in your area," says a Harvest executive. He added, "Since we are direct lenders, we don't send the information to some guys off somewhere in New York or California. We review and approve loans right here in town locally."

Fast Approval and Closing

That means we can get your loan closed in a matter of days, and you never have to go out of your living room until you're ready to close."

Loan For Purchase or Refinance

Harvest Mortgage officials report that whether you are buying, refinancing a house, just looking to consolidate some bills, get cash for your property, they have created programs to give you the money you're looking for.

Different loan programs include:

- Loans to Borrowers with good credit, with the most competitive rates in the country. These are available for purchasing a new home or refinancing.
- Loans to borrowers with a lot of equity homeowners who have slow credit or have even been bankrupt.
- Cash out loans for investment property with a lot of equity.
- Loans for borrowers who want to do additions or remodel their homes.

Italian food, the old world way

Trattoria Pomigiliano, located at 602 N. Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville, like its name, offers the finest old world Italian cuisine served in an atmosphere that exudes the same old world Italian charm.

A few years ago, Nick and Patty Saladino, and Ann and Deanna Panico got together and opened this family owned and operated restaurant where customers can dine in the quaint and cozy aura of an Italian Villa of yesterday, complete with checkered tablecloths and cream stucco walls adorned with paintings of areas around Naples, Sicily, Capri and Rome, including scenes from many Italian operas.

At Trattoria Pomigiliano, Rack of Lamb Vesuvio is a Friday and Saturday special. Another favorite is Zuppa de Pesce, a fish soup made with clams, muscles, calamari, monk fish, cod fish, lemon sole and red snapper, all served over a perfect linguini.

Of course spaghetti and lasagna are on the hand painted menu which lists Grandma Anne's works of European art, spotlighting the best Tiramisu you have ever tasted.

Other palate treats you won't be able to get enough of, are the Veal Marsala, veal sautéed in a wine sauce, served with pasta on the side and Chicken Francese, tender chicken cooked in an egg batter, spiced with lemon, also served in a wine sauce.

The restaurant's hours are Tuesday through Thursday for lunch and dinner, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday is reserved for special parties. The restaurant seats 86 comfortably. Call (847) 247-2208 for more information. Reservations accepted only for parties of six or more. The restaurant has a non-smoking environment.

Hawaii's Best Golf Courses

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

So you think you've played some pretty tough courses? Well, you haven't seen anything until you've teed off on the 8th hole at Rockresorts on the sparsely populated Hawaiian island of Lanai, and looked down 250 feet to the fairway below. If that's not enough, just wait and see what kind of games the prevailing trade winds play with your drive!

Rockresorts is just one of the many challenging, but above all, spectacularly beautiful, golf courses on the Hawaiian Islands. Here are a few more to dream about while your frost covered clubs sit in the garage. Kauai, known as Hawaii's "Garden Isle," offers great golf on both ends of the island.

On Kauai's north coast is a golfer's paradise called Princeville. This winner of Golf Magazine's Silver Medal boasts 45 holes of Robert Trent Jones designed fairways. Of those 45 holes are a couple of par-threes (the third and seventh at Makai) which will really test your mettle.

Moving south on Kauai we come to the Poipu Bay area and a new Robert Trent Jones Golf Course with its lush 328 Bermuda grass fairways and Tiffdwarf greens. Think your drive is pretty good? Try the 580-yard, par-five number four or the "driveable" par-four, 300-yard sixth hole.

The 13th hole at the Kona Surf Resort on the Big Island will really test your concentration. Just try to ignore the great plumes of white spray as tides try to push the entire Pacific Ocean through a lava tube off to the right of the tee.

Travel to Hawaii has dropped the last couple of years which means fewer crowds and much lower prices! So wipe the frost off those clubs (which fly free by the way) and quit dreaming of summer. It's waiting for you in Hawaii!

MIDWESTERN REGIONAL

Striving & surviving cancer support group

The Lake County YWCA has announced the formation of the Striving & Surviving Breast Cancer Support Group, which cares for the needs of young women diagnosed with breast cancer. The group is facilitated by Tanya Johnson and Beverly McCray and is sponsored by the Midwestern Regional Medical Center and Cancer Treatment Centers of America in Zion.

There are hundreds of young women diagnosed with breast cancer every year. These breast cancer patients have unique needs, for example, who will care for their young children while they recover? The goal of the group is to provide support to the young breast cancer victim (diagnosed before age 45) that will include peer support, child care resources, and educational services.

Cancer does not have to be a death sentence, "There is life after chemotherapy and radiation."

For more information on meeting times and dates, call 662-4247.

Keeping Well Club helps prevent cancer

Keeping well and living long are among the greatest pleasures in life. Helping you keep well is what the Keeping Well Club is all about. It's a membership program for people who are concerned about cancer. It costs nothing to join, but the benefits are tremendous:

- Annual low cost mammogram
- Annual prostate cancer screening (PSA blood test and digital exam)
- Annual low-cost cancer screening physical
- Classes and workshops on nutrition, mind-body medicine, and many other subjects
- Quarterly newsletter on cancer prevention, detection and treatment
- Computerized personal history and lifestyle questionnaire which determines your cancer risk and what you can do to lower it

The Keeping Well Club is a free service of Cancer Treatment Centers of America. More than 500 men and women from northeastern Illinois and southeastern Wisconsin are currently members.

To learn more about the program and to receive a membership application, call the Cancer Resource Center at 1-800-940-2822.

Mammograms offered for $49

For just $49, women can have mammograms performed—including reading and interpretation by a Board-certified radiologist—at Midwestern Regional Medical Center, 2520 Elisha Ave., Zion.

A mammogram can help detect cancer before you can see or feel anything. Our caring and conscientious imaging specialist will fully explain the procedure, answer questions, and complete the mammogram, usually in less than 30 minutes. Results from your mammogram will be sent to your personal physician.

For more information, or for an appointment call Midwestern at 731-4100. Medicare, commercial insurance, credit cards and personal checks are welcome.

LAKE FOREST HOSPITAL

Alzheimer's Support Group

Lake Forest Hospital's Alzheimer's Support Group, for those who care for Alzheimer's patients, will meet at a new time, from 7 to 8 p.m. The group meets the first Tuesday of each month in the library at Westmoreland Nursing Center, on the Lake Forest Hospital campus, 660 N. Westmoreland Rd., Lake Forest.

The group provides psychological support for those with a loved one suffering from Alzheimer's disease or other types of dementia. The meetings are informal and facilitated by a Lake Forest Hospital staff member. For more information, call 295-3619, ext. 5982.

Combating the milk myth

Most people who have trouble digesting lactose can have as much as two cups of milk a day

Many people mistakenly believe they have trouble digesting lactose, leading them to unnecessarily cut milk and other dairy products from their diets and therefore eliminating a major source of calcium.

Lactose is the main sugar in milk and other dairy foods. Some people are lactose maldigesters—those who have true problems breaking down lactose. However, few people are truly incapable of handling lactose.

'If you believe you are lactose intolerant, don't simply make a self-diagnosis.'

Evanston dentist

"There have been numerous news reports that suggest we don't need milk and other dairy products after our bones and teeth have formed," says Alvin Atlas, DDS, a general dentist who practices in Evanston. "Also, many nutrition students have been taught for years that certain groups of people lack an enzyme in their digestive tracts to handle milk's lactose. For example, some Asians, Africans and Middle Eastern peoples including Jews have been placed in this category, and as a result, have lower milk consumption. However, there is little science to prove they are lactose intolerant."

Other people simply diagnose themselves as lactose intolerant because they have stomach aches or other related symptoms. "The odd thing is that these people tend to be very selective," says Dr. Atlas. "For example, they won't drink milk but love yogurt. They avoid cheese but eat pizza with cheese on it. I think many use it as an excuse to lose weight, but they are losing the calcium."

Nine out of 10 women and almost two-thirds of men do not get the calcium amounts recommended by the National Academy of Sciences, which increased recommended intakes last year. Low calcium intake can increase risk of osteoporosis (thinning of bones) and high blood pressure, two serious chronic diseases.

New research published in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association suggests that most people who have trouble digesting lactose can have as much as two cups of milk a day if it is consumed with meals. In fact, eating and drinking products that contain lactose may improve a person's digestive abilities. Dr. Atlas makes the following points for people who believe they may have lactose intolerance problems.

- Consider special milk products such as acidophilus milk or other pharmaceutical products to take with dairy products. Chocolate milk may be handled better than white milk by some.

- Start small. Increase milk portions over a period of time, a strategy similar to eating more beans in order to help eliminate the gas problems they cause. Consume milk with meals to aid in digestion.

- Most cheeses have very low levels of lactose and are easier to digest.

- Yogurt and ice cream are more easily tolerated by lactose-avoiders. Ice cream simply has less lactose, and the cultures in yogurt are helpful in digestion of lactose.

"If you believe you are lactose intolerant, don't simply make a self-diagnosis," says Dr. Atlas.

"Explain your suspicions to your dentist who can then refer you to a physician or a nutritionist. You can't simply stop consuming products that contain lactose because you will end up not getting the calcium you need."

Employee health: Building the perfect work station

Regulations recently issued by the State of California to reduce job-related Repetitive Stress Injuries (RSIs) are prompting companies nationwide to improve employee work environments.

"Ergonomically-correct work stations are the first line of defense against costly medical conditions such as carpal tunnel syndrome," states exercise physiologist Lauren Spangler, M.A. Everything from lighting to posture to monitor and keyboard height must be considered.

Spangler offers the following tips:

- To avoid eye strain, place computer monitors perpendicular to the windows and draw the shades when the sun is bright. An anti-glare monitor screen is also helpful.
- Position equipment correctly. Place monitors directly in front of employees, approximately 18 to 26 inches from their eyes. The top of the screen should be at eye level.

Adjust chairs so that the knees are at the same level or slightly lower than the hips. Feet should rest comfortably on the floor or on a slightly angled foot rest, and there should be two to four inches between the front edge of the chair seat and the back of the knee.

Forearms should be level with the keyboard. Wrists should be held straight.

- Practice good posture. Sit tall with head upright, chin level and shoulders relaxed. Arms should rest comfortably at sides with elbows bent at approximately 90 degrees. Chairs should provide the proper support for the lumbar region of the lower back

- Take frequent vision and stretch breaks; every 30 minutes is recommended. "This may be the most difficult habit to instill in employees," states Spangler. "But it can make a significant difference in the incidence of RSIs."

Spangler recently assisted in the development of a special screen-saver software application designed to promote regular stretch breaks and posture checks among computer users. CyberStretch by Jazzercise offers 26 body-specific, timed stretches in full color illustrations and 26 action tips that help reduce muscle tension and allow individuals to work in greater comfort.

"[These] exercise techniques are the most innovative, practical, effective and preventative applications that have come along thus far in the field of ergonomics," states Sandy Allen, safety director and ergonomic specialist at SouthCoast Newspapers, Inc. "Specialists have devised the right method and product."

"CyberStretch gives employees the stretches they need to help them stay functional throughout the day," adds Shanna Missett, vice president of international operations for Jazzercise, Inc. "The stretches are easy to follow, informational and fun

Kids picking on each other, when does it become serious?

Dear Dr. Singer,

School has just begun and our child is being picked on by a group of kids. The abuse has been serious. He has been hurt physically and also maligned. We have approached the school about this and feel that we are not being heard or listened to at all. We have asked for observations for confirmation. There have been none.

In the meantime, our son is coming home with bruises. Our child is a very meek and timid child and this is just killing both of us. We are concerned for our child's safety.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer,
Psy.D.

Do you have any thoughts on this?

in Lake County

Dear Worried,

My first thought is that although I am concerned for you, you may not want to be writing me first to find out what to do. You may need to speak with a lawyer. This sounds terribly dangerous! Additionally, it sounds like you may have to push harder to be heard.

If your child is being physically assaulted and hurt, immediate action needs to be taken to prevent this from happening again. If the school isn't listening and your child is being seriously injured, your first priority would be to make sure your child is safe.

This may mean switching him to private school or some other alternative educational placement. The reason I say this is because even if you were able to discuss this with your school, the abuse may continue throughout these talks and your child may not be safe.

I don't have enough details (like the age of your child) here to comment directly, but it sounds serious. It also sounds like these other kids are bullies and bullies do not usually go away quickly unless something happens to cause them to lose their power in the situation.

Bullies have been a problem since we were children and probably since the beginning of time. How to handle them has changed because the nature of the bully has changed.

In the days of the "little rascals," bullies would take your lunch money and push you down. Unfortunately in the days of X-

Men, bullies can be a lot more dangerous including carrying guns and even killing.

Depending on the area you live in, you may have a worse problem with this than other areas. How you deal with a bully will usually also be dependent on the age of your child. Unfortunately, in this day and age, we are all hearing about the horrors even murder being perpetrated by very young children. If your child is 5, and being bothered by a 5-year-old, obviously the bully will be handled differently than if your child is 15 and being terrorized by a group of

Condell Distance Classic Gains Prominence During 22 Year History

The Condell Distance Classic (CDC), sponsored by Condell Medical Center of Libertyville, has been gaining in prominence on the runners' racing circuit for more than 20 years. Evidence of this is the fact that The Reebok National Challenge 5K has placed the CDC's Franklin Foods 5K Run/Walk on its circuit—the only event in the metropolitan Chicago area to be selected. This event, which fills up fast, begins at 8:10 a.m.

Marking its 22nd year Sunday, September 20, the Condell Distance Classic continues to show the results of ongoing evaluation and fine tuning of the morning's events.

The CDC official T-shirt will display an exciting new design, one of the surprises of this year's event. T-shirts are guaranteed to the first 1,300 registrants.

Free Kids Activities have become a permanent fixture of the morning. While parents are running from 8:00 to 10:30 a.m., children, ages five to 10 years old, enjoy a variety of activities including the Parachute game, Golf Ball Relay, and Crazy Animal Relays. Activities are held at the race registration area at 700 Garfield Ave., Libertyville on Condell's campus.

Many participants also turn out early for the Race Warm-up held from 7:30 to 8:45 a.m. Condell's Rehabilitation Services experts lead warm-up and stretching, exercises to demonstrate proper race preparation.

In addition to the Condell 10K Race at 9:00 a.m., Lakeland Publishers One Mile will start at 8:15 a.m.

Other amenities include complimentary boxed food/beverage to all registrants, random prize drawings, and gear drop.

There's still time to register. Packet pick-up and registration in person will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., Monday–Friday, Sept. 14–18, and from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 19, near the Public Relations Department on the Condell Medical Center Campus, 801 S. Milwaukee Ave. on Condell Dr. Watch for the signs. Race day registration will be from 7:00 to 8:30 a.m. at the start line.

For information, call Condell's Department of Public Relations and Marketing at (847) 362-2905, ext. 5297.

SINGER: Bullies may need law enforcement intervention teens. Regardless, there needs to be immediate follow up.

If your child is being harassed in school, regardless of age, the logical thing to do is get very involved with the school personnel and help them to understand their responsibility for your child's safety while that child is in their care.

I have seen situations in my office in which a child who is quiet and mild mannered gets victimized by a group of kids who are in trouble most of the time. In a particular situation, the school had chosen to allow a child with a long history of violent behavior problems to leave the school during lunch and have open lunch.

At lunch one day, she decided to ambush a client of mine and broke her nose. The school's contention was that it wasn't their responsibility because my client was somehow thought to have encouraged this (she claims she didn't note: this was also a very meek and timid girl.) The family was encouraged to follow up and in this particular situation, the school was legally advised that while a child is on their grounds and supposed to be in their care, the child's safety and well being are the school's responsibility. Now, of course, all schools and school personnel are different. I would believe that most schools and school personnel want the kids at their school to be completely safe so they can concentrate on their education. This may not be the case in every school, however, from 8 a.m. - 3 p.m., the school needs to be sure that the children are doing what they are supposed to be doing and not out ambushing people at lunch.

In this particular situation, the important question was, "why was a child with a history like this allowed to be off campus for lunch? Why was she not in a self-contained classroom where her behavior could not hurt anyone else?" We need to look carefully at a situation like this because, it is a smaller version of what is occurring in our society at large. The innocent are getting victimized by the "out of control" because the people in the system do not put barriers in front of the "out of control" or provide appropriate consequences for the "out of control."

As a parent, if your child is being bullied or harassed in school, you will need to go on the offensive to make people do what is expected of them in terms of seeing that your child is safe enough to get an education. Sometimes that is a difficult job.

If bullying is occurring outside of school, or off school grounds, depending on the child's age and where you live, you may want to either speak with the child's parents or get the police involved. If you suspect any danger, the police are who you want to talk to first. You may also want to involve a lawyer.

Bullying is something that will continue as long as people continue. It is about gaining power where you feel you don't have any. Bullies are power abusers and can be dealt with using the correct intervention: swift appropriate consequences. If their power abuse ends with costing them something, it usually means something to them. If it ends with them gaining more control/power or having manipulated the system or the people in it, they are learning a very dangerous, permanent lesson that we will all feel later. Good luck!

Choice—The Health Options difference.

Choosing a doctor you can trust and feel comfortable with is an important part of caring for your family's health.

Health Options of Illinois, a physician/hospital organization that includes some of Lake County's finest doctors and Victory Memorial Hospital, offers you a choice of over 40 primary care physicians. And, should you need the care of a surgeon, obstetrician or other specialist, your choice is even greater with Health Options.

These are doctors thousands of Lake County families put their trust in every day. You can, too. During your company's open enrollment sessions, choose a healthcare plan that includes one of the doctors listed below and Victory Memorial Hospital. (If you don't find these doctors listed in your company's health plan, talk to your benefits manager or health plan coordinator.)

Keep garden records

I often mention how important it is to keep a journal of your gardening year, and how it can make your hobby more enjoyable. Over the course of a gardening season, many things transpire. If you are anything like me, you cannot remember accurately all the things that you would like to about your garden.

I often forget what new perennials were planted, and where they did well, some locations just are not right. If you keep good, accurate records you do not have to second guess yourself, you will know.

A scrapbook works just fine, a loose-leaf three-ring binder is a practical solution. You can add pages easily, and save articles from gardening magazines, and catalogues by just hole punching them. If you like you can rubber cement clippings to paper, and then later they can be easily removed without tearing. I do believe that a garden cannot be properly developed without records. Just as a business would not succeed without proper record keeping.

Most gardens become beautiful because of the result of evolution. The gardener has planned the major features, and after successes and failures, color combinations, foliage and textures evolve into a masterpiece that he designed. It is change and the ability to improve which keep our interest active.

As you stand and gaze at the garden in midsummer there are at least a dozen different ideas that come to you for improvement. The time is not right for change, and by next spring you forget all those great ideas. This is where your records step in and refresh your memory. Records help you to repeat success as well as correct your mistakes. For example, remember when I decided to plant corn late in June (after much of mine did not germinate) well, that was a mistake. Corn definitely has to be planted early. The late corn never developed, it just grew stalks. I will dry them and use them for decoration in the fall. The area I planted my cucumbers in this year, was shaded by the huge sunflowers, and they did not produce abundantly either. My pumpkins that I let grow by over wintering in the mulch pile, grew like crazy. I have at least 10 really good sized pumpkins. I want to remember these things, so I wrote them in my journal.

Another way to make redesigning your garden easier is to take some photos. Take the camera out to the garden, and snap away. Take pictures of your annual gardens as well as your perennial gardens. Do not forget your vegetable bed, either. Whatever area you would like to improve upon can be photographed and then over the winter months, you can redesign at your leisure. The photos will serve as your memory. They will serve as a means to keep the intimate details of the garden in our minds and as fresh as they were in midsummer.

Get out that journal and until next time, peace.

Fertilize lawns in early fall

Early fall is the optimum time for fertilizing area lawns. Lawns fertilized with nitrogen in early September should respond with improved growth this fall, which will help assure a nice lawn in 1999.

Nitrogen is the nutrient lawns need most, as it gives green color and is important for a number of growth processes. Lawns also need phosphorus (P) and potassium (K), but generally not as often as nitrogen unless a soil test has shown a deficiency.

Important factors in fertilizing lawns include the kind of nitrogen fertilizer used, how much is applied and when it is applied. As mentioned, early September is probably the best overall time for fertilizing. Lawns only fertilized once a year should be done during this time. An additional late fall application can be helpful, with another application suggested around the first of May.

How much nitrogen to apply varies according to the type of grass and maintenance level. Spangenberg suggests an average lawn in our area should get about three pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet per season. Some should get less, especially lawns in shady areas. Some higher maintenance lawns may need more.

The last important variable is what kind of nitrogen fertilizer to use. Many are available, with two main categories being fast release and slow release. Fast release, also called water soluble, are available in a short period of time after being put down on the lawn. While lawns may green up quickly, drawbacks include high burn potential, rapidly used up food reserves, and depleted root systems when applied in excess or at the wrong time.

Controlled release nitrogen (slow release) will release smaller amounts to the grass over a longer period of time, leading to more uniform growth. Although they cost more, controlled release nitrogen fertilizers are highly suggested for lawn use, and would be a good choice for early September.

Attention late bloomers.

It's time for the fall color of garden mums. These hardy bloomers are one of the easiest to grow. And they display enough color to make those turning tree leaves envious. The garden mum has been called "America's Most Popular Perennial" — and with good reason. With the proper care and a bit of help from Mother Nature, garden mums have the potential to bloom again and again every autumn.

So if you need a good excuse to get outdoors this fall, grab an armload of our spectacular garden mums, available now at Leider's Garden Greenery.

Plan now for spring fever; plant flowering bulbs

Autumn is the season to prepare for spring fever—the feeling of anticipation that occurs when daffodils and tulips fill the yard with blossoms to announce that warmer weather is on the way. Bulbs need the fall and winter cold to develop roots and lay dormant until the gradually warming weather brings blossoms. So, flowering bulbs must be planted in fall to ensure a colorful and exciting spring.

Plant bulbs in perennial borders, lawns, rock gardens, under trees, or anywhere else a splash of color is desired. The flowers will come back year after year if they are given a hospitable growth environment composed of soil, garden sand, and Canadian Sphagnum Peat Moss. The sand provides drainage while all-natural Canadian Peat Moss holds air, moisture and nutrients at proper levels.

Favorite bulbs

The most difficult part of planting bulbs is choosing among the hundreds of species and hybrids available. Gardeners tend to favor the following types:

Allium—A showy relative of the onion, this lilac, pink or yellow flower grows on stems nine inches to three feet tall, making it an excellent background plant.

Chionodoxa—Commonly known as "Glory-of-the-Snow," this early spring flower produces four to six inch sprigs of white, blue or pink star-like blossoms, making it ideal for borders and rock gardens.

Muscari—Nicknamed the "Grape Hyacinth," these tiny, bright purple flowers multiply quickly and make excellent borders.

Narcissus—Commonly called daffodils, this large group of flowers comes in many shapes and shades.

Tulips—The most popular of all spring flowering bulbs, tulips offer a wide range of choices in height, color, shape and bloom time.

Planting tips

Unless the bulbs are to be "naturalized" (scattered) throughout the garden, which requires individual holes for each bulb, it is best to plant them in mass, using a large trench for each group. Whatever the design, follow these steps to guarantee bulbs that will thrive year after year:

Prepare the soil—Turn the soil over to a depth of about 10 inches to give roots room to grow. Condition the soil and improve drainage by mixing equal parts Canadian Sphagnum Peat Moss, garden sand and soil together.

Rake in a top layer of bone meal (use about five pounds per 100 square feet), and let the natural fertilizer work its way slowly down into the soil. In addition, use a complete fertilizer, such as 5-10-5, to increase bloom size and vigor. This can be added while the soil is being prepared or applied to the ground surface shortly before bulbs bloom.

The air, water and plant food will be retained in Canadian Peat's fibers and released to bulbs as needed.

Plant at proper depth—The rule of thumb is to plant bulbs to a depth of three times their overall height. Nevertheless, consult specific instructions for individual bulbs. Remember, if bulbs are planted too shallow, they will be in danger of freezing or having their period of dormancy interrupted by the freezing and thawing of the earth.

To plant a large formal bulb garden, remove the soil to the required depth, press bulbs into place (the flat side is the bottom), return the amended soil, then water.

Groom with caution—Make sure the bulbs will bloom again next year by allowing the foliage to wither. After the blossoms wilt, the stem and leaves begin to make and store food for use next spring.

Therefore, "deadhead" the bulbs, but let the leaves and stems remain until they turn yellow and shrivel. When bulbs are planted in grass, do not mow until leaves are brown. When flowers have faded, carefully loosen soil and work in a handful of 5-10-5 fertilizer around each bulb.

Divide when crowded—Most bulbs can be left in place to multiply and flourish for a number of years. When they show signs of overcrowding, divide and replant them using the directions listed above.

lawns to flower gardens to trees and shrubs. Participants will receive a checklist of things to be done in the fall garden.

"Backyard Composting" will be offered on Wednesday, Sept. 30, 7 to 8:30 p.m. With autumn, comes the falling of the leaves. What will you do with all those leaves? Why not try composting? This class shows the proper way to compost in your own backyard. The focus is on sound composting techniques and clearing up the misconceptions about composting.

Pre-registration is required. To register, call the Extension office at (847) 223-8627 and indicate which classes you plan to attend. All three classes will be held at the Extension office at 100 S. Highway 45 in Grayslake.

ACHS student struck crossing Rte. 83

High school junior hit by auto crossing street during PE

By LIZ THOMSEN
& LEE FILAS
Staff Reporters

An Antioch High School junior was struck by an auto Wednesday afternoon as she crossed Chestnut at Orchard during a recreational walk as part of her 7th hour physical education class.

The 16-year-old student was airlifted by Flight for Life from the high school football field at approximately 2:35 p.m. to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge because of a possible head injury, according to Stacie Slazes, of the Lake Villa Rescue Squad.

The accident occurred at approximately 1:50 p.m.

"They left school grounds accompanied by a teacher when the

Hockney was at Antioch High School for a meeting with the accident occurred.

"I had no indication that it was a student, until I went out there," Hockney said. "The dean of students was there and everything was under control."

The student was conscious when Flight for Life arrived on the scene. Her parents were contacted by medical personnel prior to Flight for Life's departure.

Hockney said this is the second accident which has occurred at the school crosswalks in the three years he has been superintendent.

The superintendent said the school's policy of crossing roadways as part of recreational activity will not be reviewed until the investigation into the accident is complete.

"We have to wait and investigate the circumstances of the accident. Right now the teacher is very upset. Which is understandable," Hockney said. "When we concluded our investigation we will make a determination then."

Police and rescue officials were unable to release the name of the student or the circumstance surrounding the accident late Wednesday afternoon.

Lutheran General Hospital would confirm the student was in critical condition at press time, 4 p.m., Wednesday.

Both Antioch and Lake Villa Rescue Squads responded to the scene.

Early diagnosis is important to saving a life, especially in children

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

Children with diabetes type 1 must take insulin injections to stay alive, but their symptoms can easily go undetected for months. Following is the second installment of a three part series on the disease.

Type 2 diabetes is a metabolic disorder resulting from the body's inability to make enough or properly use insulin. It primarily affects people over 45 who are overweight and fail to exercise regularly. It is estimated that 5.4 million Americans are

'While many people with Type 2 are not diagnosed, those with Type 1 know they have it'

Kevin Herold

currently unaware they have the disease.

Type 1 diabetes is an autoimmune disease where the body fails to produce any insulin. It most often occurs in children and young adults. People with Type 1 diabetes must take daily insulin injections to survive.

Once children are diagnosed with the disease, their lives change.

"Spontaneity is curtailed," said Herold. "Children must take at a minimum two injections of insulin a day and check their blood sugar level several times a day."

They also must maintain a strict diet and exercise routine, and stay in regular contact with their physicians and other health care professionals.

Adhering to a set program every day is a major challenge. "Dealing with all the issues is a full-time job," said Herold.

The challenges today are significant but many advances have been made in the past 25 years that are helping to control the disease.

"We can monitor the disease much better than we could in the past," said Herold. "Diabetics can also measure their blood sugar levels at home to help control their levels."

Herold also said that there are improved treatments for complications that result from diabetes such as kidney disease.

"One can't live a normal life, but the developments have made life more tolerable," said Herold.

While a cure has yet to be discovered, steps are being taken to help prevent the disease. The Diabetes Prevention Trial offers people at high risk for diabetes to begin taking insulin before they develop the disease. It is yet to be determined if this procedure can prevent the onset of the disease in human beings.

Pancreas transplants are also being looked at as a way to help people become diabetes free.

Additionally, Herold said there has been substantial interest in developing new ways to replace lost insulin-producing cells called islets. However, there is currently an inadequate supply of islets because they must be harvested from cadavers.

Finally, extensive research is taking place to develop new agents to treat complications of the disease, such as nerve or kidney disease.

On a local level, Mary Mathiowetz of Fox Lake and Laura Maggio of McHenry are working to raise funds that will further diabetes research. Their goal is to raise $6,000 for the American Diabetes Association through various activities by December 1.

They have organized a bowling fund-raiser that will take place at the Palace Bowl in Johnsburg on Oct. 24 and a spaghetti dinner that will take place at the American Legion Hall in Fox Lake on Nov. 15.

Crime Stoppers launches anti-gun initiative in schools

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Managing Editor

Lake County Crime Stoppers has a new mission—eliminating guns from schools.

The program was started by the volunteer arm of law enforcement following the rash of school shootings across the country earlier this year.

"We wanted to have the program in place and working with the start of the new school year," said John Sherin, coordinator of Crime Stoppers. "So far three weapons have been confiscated as a result of the program."

Crime Stoppers has placed posters in schools throughout Lake County in both English and Spanish to get the message out. Just like in their crime prevention program, Crime Stoppers will pay $100 for information leading to the recovery of an illegal gun in a public place. As always the caller remains anonymous.

"The caller doesn't even have to tell Crime Stoppers directly," said Sherin. "They can tell a school administrator or counselor about the situation and if it leads to the recovery of an illegal weapon, they will be recognized."

give their names.

"This is a non-confrontational way to resolve these issues," Childers said.

The success of Crime Stoppers has been due to the individuals who contribute to support the program," Sherin said.

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Jaycees bring circus to Oakland

Antioch—Kelly-Miller Circus performers will pitch a tent and entertain folks at Oakland Elementary School Tuesday, Sept. 15 at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The show will feature elephants, horses, dogs, and a cast of performers under a big circus tent.

The event is sponsored by Antioch Jaycees as a fund-raiser for their community projects.

The tent raising itself is a free show that begins at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. The public is invited to watch the tent go up.

Tickets are $5 for children 12 and under and $7 for adults. Tickets are available at State Bank of The Lakes in Grayslake, Gurnee, and Antioch. First National Bank—Employee Owned has tickets at their locations in Gurnee and Antioch.

IGAP scores on the rise at WTHS

Gurnee—Warren Township High School officials believe record-setting test scores, including a perfect score from one junior, can and will be sustained for the foreseeable future.

Juniors and sophomores were given Illinois Goal Assessment Program tests in reading, math, writing, social science and science.

"All our test scores are the highest they have been in the last six years in each category except reading. We had a record-breaking year," associate principal Mary Olson said.

One of the students who fared best was Carrie Aldridge. Aldridge, a junior, was surprised when she learned the news. She was recognized at a board of education meeting.

"They called me down out of a middle of a class," Aldridge said.

Aldridge plans to use her academic talents in college. The Woodland Middle School graduate is an award-winning art student.

Rash of burglaries hits neighbors

Round Lake—A rash of burglaries has broken out in a Round Lake Beach neighborhood. Three burglaries took place in close proximity from Sept. 7 through Sept. 9. Two of the incidents occurred on North Lake shore Drive and the other on Orchard Lane.

All were similar in that they included forced entry to the residences, upstairs rooms rifled through with mattresses overturned and drawers pulled out, with lower level rooms left intact.

The first burglary occurred in the 1200 block of north Lakeshore Drive on Sept. 9 and was reported to police at 6:18 p.m.

Offenders forced open the north door of the residence, and went up to the second floor master bedroom.

Items were thrown all over the room and all jewelry had been taken from a green and black jewelry box. Jewelry was removed from another room as well. Police later removed latent fingerprints which were taken into evidence.

The second burglary occurred on Sept. 8 in the 35,000 block of Orchard Lane.

It appeared someone had attempted to kick the east front door in. According to the police report there was mud on the deadbolt lock and casing.

School celebrates 50 years

Wauconda—Transfiguration School is marking its 50th anniversary this year of providing a Catholic-based education to tens of thousands of children.

Several events and activities are planned, including decorating the school's interior to the theme of "The Magical World of Walt Disney," said Ann Chaput, principal.

Another way the school is celebrating its golden anniversary is with the visit by Bishop Jerry Kicanas of the Archdiocese of Chicago, who is planning to say morning mass Sept. 11 and meet with different classrooms throughout the day.

La Puerta Abierta helps needy

Mundelein—Located somewhat off the beaten path, La Puerta Abierta, translated from Spanish as The Open Door, has been open for 28 years as an outreach center primarily serving low-income Spanish speaking families and individuals, however, all low-income people are welcome.

Anita Garza has served as executive director since 1980, and has helped many people who want to succeed in life who may not due to a communication barrier.

The center serves as a food pantry, second-hand clothing shop, and a medical clinic, as well as a place where people can receive general assistance, all at a low cost. While open primarily for Mundelein residents, people from within a 15-mile radius use the center, located in the Mundelein Shopping Center on Seymour Avenue, for their own benefit. For instance, the center has been busy early this month with the opening of schools. Call 566-0066 for more information.

Crane visits nursing home

Wauconda—U.S. Congressman Philip L. Crane (R-Dist. 8) visited the Care Centre of Wauconda Sept. 4 for the first time, and for a momentous occasion. After taking a tour of the nursing home, visiting with residents and answering a few questions, including a tough one about Social Security, he presented the facility with a Hands Across the Generations award.

The award, sponsored by the Illinois Council for Long Term Care, was presented for outstanding work in reaching out to community children during the Hands Across the Generation month of April 1998, when 50 second graders from Wauconda Grade School came over to celebrate Earth Day by planting oak trees and Easter lilies.

Staff members were extremely excited to receive the award, and to have Crane be the presenter. "We are happy to be able to shine the light on positive things that nursing homes can do for the community," said Sharon Wagner, activities director at the nursing home.

Orchards team up to help hungry

Lake County—Volunteers are requested to stop by Quig's

Orchard in Mundelein and Wauconda Orchard in Wauconda this weekend to pick apples to be donated to the Chicago Food Depository.

Each orchard belongs to the North American Farmers Direct Marketing Association, and is participating in the group's first Orchards Harvest for the Hungry. More than one million apples will be collected that weekend through the United States and Canada, and will be donated to food pantries in both countries. In Lake County, Wauconda and Quig's Orchards are donating a combined 12,000 apples.

To help out, take a trip to Wauconda Orchard, 1201 Gosnell Rd., located west of Fairfield Road between Routes 120 and 176, or Quig's Orchard, 300 S. Route 83, located one-quarter mile north of Midlothian Road.

Schools host public technology

Lake Villa—Community residents are invited to an evening demonstration of the potential for technology both in the school system and in the community on Wednesday, Sept. 16 at 7 p.m. at Antioch Community High School.

Ian Jukes of the Thornburg Center for Professional Development will speak to community residents at ACHS in the auditorium, provide demonstrations of technology, and answer questions by the audience.

His visit is sponsored by all area public school districts.

"We're looking at technology as a tool to connect our communities," said Deb Kerr, principal of Antioch Upper Grade School and coordinator of the multi-district event.

The intent of the public meeting is to help people understand "why technology is a practical investment for the community," she said.

Jukes' presentation is technology based, according to Kerr. "He will model it and demonstrate it."

Ian Jukes has worked with communities throughout North America to develop plans to restructure schools and to integrate technology into all classrooms.

Fox Lake Village trustee resigns

Fox Lake—After months of speculation and rumors, Fox Lake trustee Alberta Meyer tendered her resignation to Mayor Jim Pappas at 5 p.m. on Monday night, ending 12 years of service to the Village of Fox Lake.

Meyer, who has been often criticized for her numerous absentee's from village board meetings by village board members and residents alike, decided not to attend the bi-monthly meeting. Rather, she released a statement to Pappas which was read during roll call.

Meyer, who was criticized earlier in the year for her lack of attendance at the village board, has missed 11 out of a possible 25 village board meetings in 1998 and has only attended 3 meetings since June 1.

"She came in and gave me her resignation prior to the start of the meeting," Pappas explained. "It's believed her reasons are some health problems with her husband and he is retiring. I don't know. It's not right for me to speculate on that."

Brainerd building to undergo survey

Libertyville—The possibility of Brainerd becoming a new site for Cook Memorial Library is being studied to see if it is structurally feasible.

There is a two-part engineering study underway to determine if it is physically possible to turn the school building into a library, said Cook Memorial Library Head Librarian Fred Byergo.

Byergo said that this is the best option to pursue at this point because it has been the most widely discussed.

"We aren't surveying any other sites because this is the one that seems to be the single most prominent option on people's minds," he said.

Upon receiving approval from the Cook Memorial Library District board, the firm of Myers, Scherer, and Rockcastle began the first objective of the plan. That is to analyze drawings of the school to see how it would function as a library.

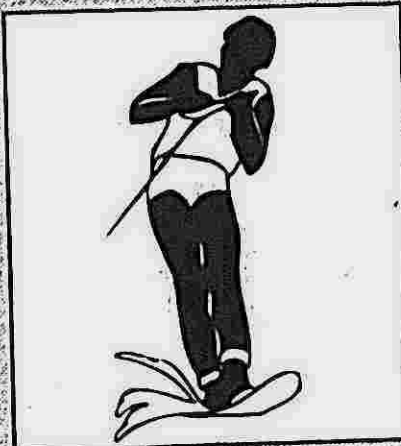

The second phase of the study will be performed by Myer, Borgman and Johnson, structural engineers who will determine what the structural possibilities of transforming the building would be.

Time for Vernon Hills to end fire district ruse

Many years ago, the Illinois General Assembly adopted legislation to protect tax supported fire protection districts from frivolous or vindictive deannexation raids that would be disruptive and threatening to public safety. The statute is the Fire Protection District Act, designed to protect fire districts from losing tax base and thus be subjected to forced dissolution. More pointedly, the act was intended to prevent municipalities from pulling away, leaving citizens of unincorporated territory without fire protection.

If the law hadn't been adopted so long ago it would almost appear to be intended to prevent Vernon Hills from bolting from the more than half century old Countryside Fire Protection Dist., originally designed to serve rural Mundelein area. A parade of Vernon Hills officials has spent a good part of the 1990's to accomplish exactly what the law says is illegal so they can establish their own fire department.

The somewhat obscure legislation is the major hurdle preventing Vernon Hills from virtually destroying the Countryside fire department. The deannexation sought by burgeoning Vernon Hills would take approximately two-thirds of the Countryside tax base.

Why does Vernon Hills lust for its own fire department? Who knows? Countryside Fire Chief A. Lewis Landry believes the reason has to do with control. Chief Landry is being kind. In plain words, the Vernon Hills position is a naked grab for more power, the bullying tactics of a municipality on the make and used to getting what it wants.

After relentless political pressure, Countryside officials under duress entered into an agreement in 1992 that essentially paved the way for Vernon Hills to get its own fire department. Regarded as flimsy by some legal authorities, the cobbled together pact is what Vernon Hills considers a done deal. Countryside leaders since have had a change of heart. Chief Landry calls the document a "nightmare."

No matter what legalese Vernon Hills employs, the Fire Protection District Act still stands in the way of deannexation. Despite all the Vernon Hills tangle footing, Countryside firemen have served Vernon Hills without bias or rancor. The dissidents cannot accuse firemen of not doing their job. The Village of Vernon Hills ought to put vanity aside and drop plans to get into the fire fighting business.

Community shows value for what is important

In an era when many say they don't know their neighbors and don't care to, the community of Antioch showed small town values still exist and that today's youth have their priorities straight. When news reached school officials and teammates of Antioch High School senior Ryan Clutts that he had been killed in a motorcycle accident Tuesday evening, they started putting their priorities in order.

School officials called the football team's Friday night opponent, Westosha Central near Milwaukee to reschedule the varsity football game to follow the scheduled freshman and junior varsity contests, Thursday night.

Ryan's memorial service was Friday night, and coaches knew Ryan's teammates would want to be there.

Westosha Central agreed.

The Thursday night game began with a moment of silence for Ryan and was preceded by a talk from kicker Dan Shaughnessy about his friend, Ryan.

Players dedicate their season to Ryan, with teammates and students now wearing blue ribbons in his memory.

Players also did another remarkable thing Thursday night in downing the ball when the game reached 40-0. They could have run the score up even further with their third string team on the field, but in an age of competitiveness, the teammates showed that winning is certainly not everything.

Ryan Clutts would be proud of the way his brothers and sisters at Antioch High School have handled this crisis and how they have put their priorities straight.

Antioch should be proud of its children and its leaders, for have the courage to reschedule life to remember someone in death.

VIEWPOINT

Fun at the old ball park is watching one of your favorite huskies belt one out of the park. Always was, always will be.

That's why 1998 already is an extraordinary year for Cub fans no matter how the playoffs turn out. Sammy Sosa's homer binge has guaranteed that, having broken as this is written, Hack Wilson's 68-year-old club standard of 58 home runs.

Hard to believe in the euphoria over Sammy's exploits this season the Cubs had some notable home run hitters before Sosa.

My first favorite was Bill Nicholson, a solidly built right fielder from the state of Maryland, who had the nickname "Swish" because he struck out more than he homered. His pre-World War II swings and shots were memorable.

Funny thing, although the Cubs had great years in the 30's winning National League pennants every three years and always contending in between, Nicholson was the first notable slugger after Wilson, meaning there was about a 10-year gap for big guys who could go down-town in style.

Andy Pafko was a home run hero on the Cubs last World Series visit in 1945, although his numbers don't measure up to more recent teams. Hank Sauer, a sad-faced left fielder who hefted the heaviest bat in the majors, was the next Cub home run star. He was Hammering Hank before Hall of Famer Hank Aaron.

Sauer was the one who brought Cub fans out of their seats until the incomparable Ernie Banks arrived in Chicago from the Negro Leagues. With lightning wrists, Ernie fairly flicked baseballs into the seats. His club record for total homers may even withstand Sosa's exploits.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Ernie teamed with other solid home hitters Billy Williams and Ron Santo to make a trio of gifted power hitters as the nucleus of the 1969 team that folded in the stretch to the dreaded Mets. Cub loyalists who lived through that debacle still shake their heads in disbelief.

After the Banks-Williams-Santo era there was Dave Kingman, a legitimate power hitter if there ever was one. Dave's four-baggers always sailed high and far. He was strong and had the swing. I saw him lose his grip and hit a centerfield homer in Wrigley Field one-handed. Dave played on terrible Cub teams and struck out a lot, but he belongs in the Cub Power Club.

Long-time Cub followers will never forget Andre Dawson, a quiet man who could match home runs with the best in baseball during his prime. He was slowed up by lots of injuries. Dawson drifted into the American League during his twilight years.

Then came Sammy. Oh, man! He'll be a Cub at heart until 2001. More will be heard from him. I listed my favorites. Did I miss anyone?

Let me know if I did. Don't tell Cub fans about the joy of 2-1 pitching duels or sparkling defensive plays. They come to see their guy belt one out of sight. Always did. Always will.

In love with pools

Millionaire Esper Petersen's gift of $750,000 through a family foundation pretty much guarantees that Grayslake will get a municipal swimming pool in Central Park. Thirty years ago as a young businessman, Petersen donated $25,000 to Camp Duncan YMCA, Volo, for a swimming pool. Guess he likes pools.

Mystery water

For a county with scores of lakes and oodles of public swimming areas, it's odd that the Lake County Health Dept. has limited capacity to test water quality. Technician Mary Colwell said nine Lake Michigan beaches are checked weekly and more than 40 inland swimming areas licensed by the state are tested bi-weekly. That means water quality in dozens of lakes is unknown. The Health Dept. does have a rotating schedule where a water quality check called a profile is made every five years. Testing water in public swimming pools is the responsibility of the sponsoring agency.

Sheriff searching

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re says it costs $110,000 to put a first year deputy on the job. Salary, benefits, uniforms, equipment. Del Re would put 10 new deputies to work tomorrow if funds and manpower were available. Finding money and qualified personnel are equally difficult, according to the sheriff.

Unmasking politicians necessary

When I was a kid, the Lone Ranger was the popular radio and movie serial. The Lone Ranger was the masked cowboy and he always "got his man."

When I think about election contests nowadays, and especially those for higher offices, I think about the "masked ranger." Political candidates, and I mean in both political parties, try to mask themselves to voters, so that the voters really don't know who they are.

In the race for governor of Illinois, we are getting an early taste of "political masks." I know both of the candidates, having served with them in the legislature. I'm not sure that I will know them by the time the race is over. Both Glenn Poshard and George Ryan are decent and caring persons. Their personalities are different, but they are both friendly and personable.

By the time the campaign gets near the stretch, their images will be shattered and few voters will think that either of them are "nice" persons. Can they blame each other for battering one another to a pulp? Who is really to blame? We better start answering that question, because it's not just this election for governor; it's getting to be the case in virtually all elections.

At the heart of most evil things, you can blame money as the big problem. I always like to quote Will Rogers who said, "in politics, it takes a lot of money to lose with." Imagine how much it must take to win.

SEEING IT THROUGH

Candidates don't run their elections any more. Political campaigns are run by political consultants. In past columns, I have written about what I think about consultants who receive outrageously high fees are giving advice that you already know. I guess that political consultants can be the worst kind because their work can result in foisting some very bad public officials into office.

One of the reason that the costs of political campaigns has skyrocketed is that many political consultants base their pay on a percent of the costs to run the campaign. That is why the political consultants always tell candidates that they have to spend tons of money on television commercials. The more the candidate spends, the bigger the fee for the consultant.

In just about every major political campaign, "both sides" promise the electorate that they will wage a positive and clean campaign and avoid negative, personal attacks. I believe that most candidates, if they were really running their own campaigns, would adhere to the policy of running a positive campaign. But, there again, a candidate is often told by the political consultant that the opponent is ahead and the only way to catch up is by starting to "attack." Once you get into a "mud-fight," you fall deeper into it.

Of course, there is sometimes a thin line between what is a legitimate attack on how a candidate stands or may vote on certain issues. I have seen where candidates will fail to answer legitimate questions about their record or performance in office and just answer by saying, "my opponent is being negative." The public deplores negative campaigning, so that ploy unfortunately works too often.

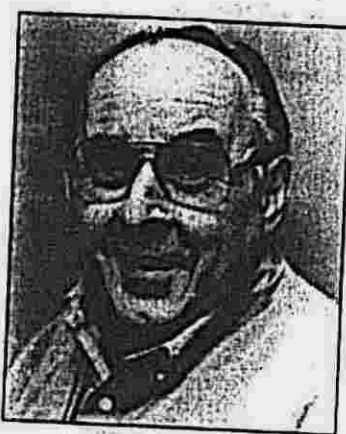

Of course, the real curse in political campaigns is the very scandalous costs associated with the campaigns. The Illinois governor's race is no exception. The amounts that will be raised and spent are a scandal. Where those huge amounts come from is an even bigger scandal.

I have often said, with "tongue in cheek" that the public doesn't know it, but in high-profile elections, they would fare better if they voted for the candidate who spent the least amount of money in the campaign. The only reason I say "tongue in cheek," is that there are sometimes the "fringe, loony" candidates who might spend nothing.

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Fojtik: Does he want to regain seat?

Demos-Rosenthal: Devoting more time to family

Stanczak: Drums up support with 'Sluggofest'

GOP's 'big tent' on display

Republicans are working overtime to show that they practice "big tent" politics. Sunday, Oct. 4, will be made to order.

On that date, at the same time, both ends of the political spectrum will be represented at public gatherings.

While House Speaker Newt Gingrich will be speaking at a tea party in Lake Forest, County Board Rep. Jim Stanczak (R-Waukegan) will be drumming up support with a "Sluggofest" at Jester's on Lewis Ave., Waukegan.

Gingrich's appearance is being sponsored by the Lake Forest/Lake Bluff Women's Republican Club and will be held at a private home. Stanczak's party is open to all comers.

Job change

Karen Demos-Rosenthal, who became executive director of the Lake Zurich Chamber of Commerce after serving two terms as a village trustee, has changed jobs. She left the Chamber office to devote more time to her family.

Demos-Rosenthal was succeeded by Samuel R. Mitchell, a retired trade association manager. No sooner had Karen vacated the

Heading for Old Sod

Fox Lake Village Trustee Jim Thelen let slip that he won't run for re-election next spring and that he's considering retired living in Ireland. A successful contractor, Thelen may also be attracted to the quiet life after rough and tumble village politics.

Seek Carter foe

Compulsive slate makers in the Republican party have been urging Ed Fojtik to make a bid to regain his County Board seat from District 8 (Grant and Wauconda townships). Fojtik was ousted by Bonnie Thomson Carter in an upset that was seen as a backlash against old guard politics. Carter's term won't be up until the year 2000, so you see how far in advance the political pros work.

Sheriff choice

Members of Operators Union Local 150 are weighing their choice for sheriff in the November election. They backed unsuccessful Willie Rae Smith in the Republican primary because Sheriff Gary Del Re would not budge on a policy of issuing deputy sheriff cards only to bona fide deputies.

Fancy duds

Township officials are getting their finery out of mothballs for the annual Lake County Township officials dinner Oct. 2 at Illinois Beach State Park.

Bad move

The media has made much of Illinois Senator Carol Moseley-Braun's use of a racial slur in calling columnist George Will a racist. But, voters may remember longer her inability to pronounce Cub's power hitter Sammy Sosa's name when presenting his jersey to Vice President Al Gore last week.

The Illinois Senator called the slugger, "Sam Sue spo" in a clip on the evening news.

Bad move, if you're a Cubs fan.

Release list

Waukegan Police Lt. Marlene Runyard, the Democratic candidate for Lake County Sheriff, wants to see county law enforcement release the list of sex offenders living locally on a website.

Sluggers hit big, say little

Mark McGwire, one of baseball's new Sultans of Swat (an old Babe Ruth nickname), has been hounded by reporters. The tormented Mighty Mac recently scolded them, saying, "You have to realize that hitting a home run is the hardest thing to do in sports."

Not really. There have been more than 5,000 home runs in the major leagues this season. There are more difficult tasks in sports, for example, trying to guard Michael Jordan.

How about winning a 26-mile marathon, or maybe just finishing one? Or having to kick a winning 55-yard field goal with the final seconds ticking off the clock?

In boxing, imagine getting in the ring with a Joe Louis, a Rocky Marciano or a Muhammad Ali.

In baseball, pitching a no-hitter is much harder than hitting a home run.

But hitting 60 or more in one season, now that's a highway! Before the current bonanza by the Cardinals' McGwire and the Cubs' Sammy Sosa, it was accomplished only by Ruth, 71 years ago, and Roger Maris, 37 years ago.

Otherwise, McGwire has been coping well with the media frenzy. So has Sosa. They have gotten the swagger right and the clichés down pat.

Both probably learned from that literate and funny 1988 baseball movie, "Bull Durham," in which Kevin Costner plays a veteran minor-league catcher who must prepare for the majors a talented but undisciplined pitcher played by Tim Robbins.

It's the smart, sassy movie in which Susan Sarandon plays a groupie who feels it is her mission to live with one young player per season and help him mature. In the movie she winds up with Costner, of course, but in real life she married Robbins.

Anyway, on the team bus, the catcher says, "It's time to work on your interviews. You have to learn your clichés. It's boring, but that's the point. Say things like, 'You gotta play 'em one at a time. I'm just happy to be here and hope I can help the ball club. The Good Lord willing, I just want to give it my best shot. This is a very simple game; you throw the ball, you catch the ball, you hit the ball. Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose, sometimes it rains. Think about that.'"

In a closing scene the pitcher arrives in the big leagues, is being interviewed and recites those exact words.

Sosa, the delightful Dominican, has been saying things like, "When you believe in God, and you're strong physically and mentally, I don't think you need to do anything but go out and do your job. You never know what can happen. You're not going to be perfect every day. I just love what is happening."

The more why McGwire has been saying, "A great thing is happening. Let's just accept it, just take what today has given us. You can't get a home run every day. If the Good Lord lets it happen, then it does. I'm going to give it my best shot."

But if Big Mac wants to convince us that hitting a home run is the hardest thing in sports, he shouldn't make it look so easy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Who will pay for annexation, growth it brings?

Fox Lake is fond of annexation. They are anxious to annex the Holiday Park property on Wooster Lake because the revenue potential from real estate taxes and water tower antenna rent is substantial. That's one thing. Cutting off the Big Hollow School District from access to impact fees, a share of tax revenues and future benefits from this development is another.

I wish Ingleside and Wooster Lake residents would wake up. The school district at Big Hollow announced a student population increase from 560 to 2,100 in the next three years. That shall mean about $30 million in new schooling costs. Impact fees should bring $10 to $13 million. The rest will come from ever growing real estate taxes and bonds.

Fox Lake does not care about this. They just built an $18 million education complex. It's beautiful. Holiday Park development will help pay for a lot of it after Fox Lake annexes its 120 acres. Since Fox Lake is so fond of annexation, how about also annexing Wooster Lake, Ingleside, Lilymoor, Johnsburg, etc. into greater Fox Lake?

Does it matter that the proposed HP annexation does not appear to be contiguous to Fox Lake? Does it matter that residential real estate taxes alone cannot pay for the needed school in Big Hollow? Does anybody in Ingleside care? Hello.

'No more taxes'

Recently my husband and I rode our bikes south, exploring the Des Plaines River Trails. On the way back home, we stopped in at the Libertyville Township meeting. We were just in time to listen to trustee Underbrink's tirade on wetlands, Libertyville Estates and China's flooding.

Trustee Underbrink forgot that citizen slaves of China are not free to move, as we here are free citizens who can move anywhere, at any time.

As all Township residents know, Libertyville Estates was at one time part of the gift of Adler Park. Adler Park encompassed both sides of the Des Plaines River. Libertyville village government sold the lower property to a developer.

Zoning laws today would forbid such sales. Still, some uninformed people think it could happen again.

More interesting was the Assessor's report. What is causing the exodus from Libertyville Township? High taxes? Libertyville Township residents, do we really NEED township government?

Paul has the qualifications

Recent press releases advertised the fundraiser for Bob Skidmore, the republican candidate for Lake County Treasurer. The event was held at Blarney's Island, the same event and the same place as fundraisers held by the current treasurer, who has been in office for over 20 years. Could this "same old, same old" be an indicator of what we can expect if he becomes treasurer? With the retirement of the current treasurer, if Skidmore does not have his own ideas, then what will he do? Let's get some fresh ideas and new blood in that office. As a Lake County taxpayer, I know the ways of the good old boys just are not keeping up with what Lake County really needs.

Lynda Paul has the education (CPA, MBA) the experience (Abbott Laboratories) and financial know-how as a Registered Investment Advisor and Financial Planner to make the most of the taxpayers' investment in Lake County. Also, I read that her opponent states he is a staunch republican. Do we really need a politician managing our money (like Fox Lake)? Or do we need someone who is qualified? Paul will have our vote in the upcoming election. Lynda Paul offers something new, and she is not one of the good old boys.

UNMASK: Voters struggle to know candidate's true identity

pect to do such business and who contribute very, very high amounts aren't doling out those funds out of the goodness of their heart. They are either paying back a candidate for favors already done or for future enrichment of their special interests.

The legislature did pass some ethics reforms earlier this year, but none of them touch the matter of the high costs of political campaigns and unethical results from it. Public disclosure doesn't "cut it." If anything, such disclosure has raised the "political ante" by letting "each side" know how much their competitor is spending. Special interests can find out, too, how much their competitors are sinking into campaigns—

I am afraid that the governor's race will become uglier and uglier. There is too much of that evil—money—already in it. Neither candidate will be civil until the night of the election—in the concession speech. And we will wonder why that candidate, and the other one, didn't take off their "masks" much earlier, so that we really got to know them.

Staying organized: The Five P's of Paperwork

The following article is a reprint, and is a favorite of readers who want to get organized:

According to time-management consultants, some people spend up to 25 percent of their workday searching for written documents they can't find. Most of us have been there, done that and have a t-shirt to prove it.

I often accuse everyone in my office of moving, hiding or taking my important letters, papers and records. Of course, the lost items usually turn up just where I left them.

Obviously, searching for misplaced documents is costly in time, money and productivity. It is often a sign of a deeper problem: poor organizational skills.

Being disorganized not only wastes time and money, but also causes stress. Deadlines come and go, phone messages pile up and we often find ourselves falling short of our goals. All the while, we're still searching for our lost items and the pressure builds.

The good news is if you really want to become more organized you can. And, if you have the want to, I have the way to.

The Five P's of Paperwork

• Pitch It. I often find myself going through piles of information a second or third time and invariably I'll pitch something I've looked at several times before. Indecision is the culprit in this case.

You should handle paper only one time. Take a few moments to look at each piece of paperwork carefully the first time. Make a decision right then. If you need to save the item or do something about it, take one of the actions listed below. When in doubt, pitch it out.

• Pass It. You should never pass paperwork unless it is better handled by someone else. If your company needs to answer a letter or memo, and you can delegate effectively, do it. However, never pass paperwork or projects just to clean your desk temporarily.

Paperwork often acts like a boomerang: You can throw it, but it comes right back. Be certain if you pass work on to others that they will take appropriate action. Again, your goal is to only handle paperwork once.

• Pile It. We often do not have time to deal with all the paperwork we see every day. When that happens, make three orderly piles of: 1.) things to do, 2.) items to file or, 3.) articles to read.

Only pile when you have higher priorities. The mail can wait until you finish an important project. Don't let your piles gather dust.

• Put It Away. There is no better method for keeping track of important paperwork than a well planned, and consistently used filing system. Here are some good tips on filing: 1.) Have adequate filing space. Purge files regularly to free up space. Invest in additional units when needed; 2.) Take the time to file regularly and accurately; 3.) When you start a

Economic summit set for Midlane

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Lake County business leaders are expected to be on hand in Wadsworth when Lake County Partners hosts a conference at Midlane Country Club.

"We have invited about 120 persons. All the major decision makers from commerce and industry will be there. The top priorities that will be discussed include work force and affordable housing," Vicky Elbrecht, of Grand Tri-State Realty and conference coordinator, said.

The meeting will take place from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. Sept. 17 at Midlane's Newport Room. Lake County Partners, a new economic development initiative of Lake County, will discuss its private-public partnership future.

Lake County Manufacturing Extension Center will be represented, discussing international trade opportunity.

The Lake County Economic Development Corporation was formed after its predecessor, the Lake County Economic Development Commission, was dissolved.

The corporation's mission is to: "sustain and enhance Lake County's high quality of life by pursuing a course of action that benefits the community (create-retain quality jobs, stimulate capital investment and pursue economic diversity). The corporation will work to enhance the county's cultural and environmental amenities, as well as the business climate; partner and integrate its needs with municipalities, Chambers of commerce; professional and business associations and colleges, universities and school districts and non-profit organizations," according to the statement.

Current Lake County Economic Development Corporation activities include:

Administration of Lake County Integrated Finance Program for small business and delivery of Small Business Administration loans for companies with 500 or less employees; provide site location assistance to businesses interested in relocating or expanding to Lake County.

James W. Smith Printing Company earns top honors

Outstanding print production and surface design is recognized

James W. Smith Printing Company of Gurnee has been honored for outstanding print production and surface design by Strathmore/Beckett Paper's Excellence in Print Contest and The International Association of Printing House Craftsmen's Annual Gallery of Superb Printing, both for Smith's "Dog & Pony" Open House Invitation.

Designed by Smith and Studio North (North Chicago), the piece boasts original artwork, various high-end print applications, selected papers, die-cutting and meticulous hand bindery work.

Voted best of class in the Beckett contest, alongside pieces developed in Johannesburg, South Africa, Smith is now accredited with World Class status.

Among the thousands of pieces entered from across North America into the 1998 International Gallery of Superb Printing, held in New York this past August, Smith has earned three Gold Awards of Excellence (number one in its categories) for the same "Dog & Pony Show"

TNT in business of assisting people, companies in transition

TNT (Technology Network Technicians) is in the business of assisting people, and companies that are in transition. TNT's MCSE's have the skills necessary to plan, implement, maintain, and support information systems in a wide range of computing environments using Microsoft Windows NT Server, and the Microsoft BackOffice to meet the needs of an ever-changing, corporate enterprise.

MCSE's are trained network specialists that can create networks from the ground up. MCSE certification is the most prestigious certification title available from Microsoft and the most sought by employers in every marketplace.

Unlike typical staffing companies, TNT does not recruit its employees from the same limited labor pool that currently restricts our clients' employee growth. Nor do we recruit skilled technicians away from companies that may currently have or develop a business relationship with us. Unlike search firms that do engage in this activity, TNT, through its Career Development Program, actually creates skilled technicians and increases the labor pool by offering certification training to people seeking to improve their lives by changing their career.

A simple analogy is that TNT "rents" and "sells" MCSE's to our clients, but we also "build" the MCSE's. Unlike the search firm that just shuffles people from one place to another, we take full responsibility and control of the quality and skillset of the people we deliver. Instead of relying on a diminished labor pool, TNT continues to expand the labor pool.

Why MCSE Certification?

One year ago it was estimated that there were 14,000 MCSE's in the United States. That number has been growing by approximately 700 new MCSE's each month. According to Steve Balmer, president of Microsoft, Microsoft delivers over 37,500 copies of Windows NT Server each month. Each server typically supports 50-100 workstations, printers, hubs and other networked devices.

In other words, each new MCSE confronts a potential workload of 2,650-5,300 networked devices. Is there a shortage of MCSE's? Yes, and the shortage will become critical unless there is a dramatic increase in the production of newly minted MCSE's. In 1997 Microsoft estimated a 20-30 percent shortfall in MCSE candidates for open MCSE positions.

These figures have changed dramatically in the last several months. Microsoft Professional Magazine confirms this in several of their recent articles as well as in the salary surveys conducted annually. Current estimates are that there are 200,000 unfilled positions in IT throughout the United States.

The services TNT offers are not only important to our client companies. These services fill a very specific need for the community of people seeking a career in information Technology. There are dozens of training facilities in the Chicago area that generate their revenue by selling training. Yet, these facilities have no vested interest in the success of the students. That may be why only 10 percent of those students that have paid $5,000 to $15,000 for training actually receive their Microsoft certification.

TNT has 30 students enrolled in first and second training session (which lasts 16 weeks) and expect to certify no less than 24 of them. TNT's business is directly dependent upon their success. Additionally, it provides full employment benefits to the MCSE's that are hired—whether on assignment or not. The benefits also include ongoing training tuition allowance as well as a 100 percent rebate on the cost of our career development program.

Effective July 1, TNT is also approved by the State of Illinois to receive Title III funding for student candidates that are eligible under the employee dislocation program grant. Since the inception of the training program has helped several of our students secure employment while continuing training allowing them to be removed from the unemployment rolls.

The diversity of people attracted to TNT's career development program is astonishing. They are providing training to a retired, Pulitzer prize-winning journalist from the Chicago Tribune, a paralegal that has been working in law for over 10 years, a CPA that had worked for Arthur Andersen, and several DeVry graduates. One student, previously a carpenter, is working as a staffer in IT at Sears.

All students, however, share the same desire to improve their lives by changing their careers. All have exhibited the same aptitude for network engineering and all have come to us seeking an opportunity.

Unlike open enrollment, public seating facilities, TNT turns away more people than it accepts.

NEW PERSPECTIVE

Physical Design Critical To Alzheimer's Care

NEW PERSPECTIVE, located in Wheeling at 760 McHenry Road, phone 465-1100, is doing its part in the care of people with Alzheimer's Disease. A person with dementia requires daily assistance. Symptoms such as memory loss, nervousness, depression and loss of interest in previously enjoyed activities or places characterize the early stages of Alzheimer's Disease.

Many individuals and families turn to long-term institutional care, however, the home is the ideal setting for care. Safety issues often prevent those with Alzheimer's from remaining at home. NEW PERSPECTIVE is designed for their residents to enjoy the outdoors, joining in group activities at another cottage or caring for a garden. Each cottage has only 16 residents, which encourages social interaction and makes it easier for residents to orient themselves. Residents help maintain their homes by setting the table, baking cookies, folding laundry and participating in other household tasks. NEW PERSPECTIVE was designed to provide comfort, safety and a home-like atmosphere. Your inspection of their fine facility is invited at any time. Call today for a tour or more information on their services.

The Editors of this 1998 Business Review & Reference Guide recommend NEW PERSPECTIVE to all our readers.

ANTHONY PONTIAC-GMC-BUICK

Awarded #1 Customer Satisfaction in 1997 for Pontiac in the Chicago Zone

With so many of the new models being similar in features and price, how does the prospective new car buyer know which automobile is best for him? Well, as the saying goes, "If you don't know cars, know the people you buy from." In Waukegan, consumers are very fortunate to have a dealer like ANTHONY PONTIAC-GMC-BUICK. Located at 2727 Belvidere Road, Route 120, phone 244-1010, this well-known firm is an authorized representative for famous Pontiac-Buick cars and GMC trucks.

Besides offering a full line of quality products, this community-minded dealership bases its success on a simple fact of good business. Keep the Customer Satisfied. The business of customer satisfaction begins in the showroom and continues right on through their complete state of the art body shop and service department where skilled technicians and the latest diagnostic test equipment assure you that your new car or truck will "keep you satisfied" for many years to come.

The Writers of this 1998 Business Review & Reference Guide recommend you stop by the ANTHONY PONTIAC-GMC-BUICK showroom very soon. Anthony has been nominated for the Chicago Automobile Trade Association Time Magazine Quality Dealer Award, and we would like to mention that being considered is quite an honor in itself, and given this, we know you'll be more than satisfied!

DOVER STRAITS

Voted 1995 Pioneer Press Favorite Restaurant

A top-rated restaurant has four main requisites - first, fine food, second, faultless service, third, a large selection, and last, but not least, reasonable prices. When we find a restaurant that offers these four things, it is indeed a treat, and this treat is yours at DOVER STRAITS. Located at Route 45 (East of Route 83) in Mundelein, phone 949-1550 and 1149 West Gulf Rd. in Hoffman Estate, phone 884-3900. This fine restaurant is well-known for its appetizing food. Make your selection from a wide variety of foods including everything from oysters Rockefeller and imported Dover sole to swordfish, plus many more. An excellent meal selection is also available, and you can be assured that regardless of your choice, it will be one of the best meals you have ever eaten. When they first opened their doors, they had one primary goal in mind - to offer the people of this area the finest food, served among friendly people in a pleasant atmosphere, and always with the best service in town. The fact that DOVER STRAITS has achieved just exactly that is evidenced by the ever returning groups of people who have made them their favorite place to dine. Their warm, pleasant atmosphere, delicious food and excellent service will make you want to return time and time again. Remember the name, DOVER STRAITS for a truly enjoyable dining experience. They feature lunch, dinner and also provide the Early Bird Dinner for the people that are too hungry to wait. Call for hours. They have live entertainment and a dance floor! DOVER STRAITS also provides gift certificates.

The Writers of this 1998 Business Review and Reference Guide know you'll be pleased with the quality service and the good food that you'll receive at this fine restaurant.

THOMAS C. YOUNG, ATTORNEY AT LAW

A sudden injury or accident may have unexpected long-term effects. Often, such an event is through no fault of the injured party. These individuals may incur high medical bills as well as the added financial burden of loss of income due to extended time away from their jobs.

THOMAS C. YOUNG, ATTORNEY AT LAW, located in Palatine at 350 North Erie Drive, phone 359-8999, is fully experienced in dealing with all phases of personal injury or wrongful death. He is altogether familiar with all aspects of local and state laws regarding injury cases. He offers a free initial consultation to enable you to clearly understand your legal options and to help you determine the best possible procedures for your individual circumstances, and is available for home or hospital visits if necessary.

Thomas C. Young handles personal injury and wrongful death cases on a contingency or percentage fee basis, meaning that if he is unable to recover damages for you, there is no charge for his services.

When you are accidentally injured, not knowing your legal rights can be just as devastating as the injury itself. If you or a loved one has been injured by a fall, an auto accident or a work-related accident, Thomas C. Young invites your inquiries. He is available to provide professional legal services and counseling to help ease the financial burden of an unexpected injury. The Authors of this 1998 Business Review and Reference Guide recommend this experienced attorney to all our readers.

Before You Choose a Funeral Home, Ask This Question:

• Funeral Home
• Funeral Services

"Who Owns the Company"

When you ask us, we'll tell you, "We do." Because our home has been family-owned and family-managed for generations. And we believe that makes a great difference in the care and service your family receives. So be sure you ask the one simple question that lets you know who's in charge. Because it can also let you know exactly how personal the service will be.

THIS WAY TO WEALTH

Dollar value of stay-at-home parent

Over the last few years, there seems to be a growing trend for mothers or fathers to stay home with their children, making sure that their most precious possession is raised according to their family values.

The "stay at home parent" has the most important job in America, never to be paid a direct paycheck. Because this job doesn't pay a paycheck, there is a misconception that there is no economic value for the job. This could not be further from the truth!

Many people have tried to place an economic value on the "stay at home parent." Depending on your family structure, the equivalent pay scale in the corporate world would be approximately $30,000 to $50,000 per year.

This seems like a very high number, but when you factor all of the expenses that the "stay at home parent" accomplishes, and the taxes on that amount, this number might seem conservative.

Because of the misperception on the economic value of the "stay at home parent," there is usually a very large gap in providing for the financial security in a family with life insurance protection on the "stay at home parent." Most families only insure the "working" parent because they are the ones that bring "physical" money into the family. But if the "stay at home parent" prematurely died, the financial security of the entire family would be in jeopardy.

Costs of not being at home: To illustrate, let's examine some of the costs associated with hiring the work a "stay at home parent" provides. Day care is probably the most costly. Most day care facilities for two children run at least $12,000 per year. A cleaning person usually costs $4,000 per year. A meal service costs at least $6,000 per year. This totals $22,000 per year. If you were in the 28 percent income tax bracket, you would need to earn $30,555 per year in order to net $22,000.

Because there is no corporate plan offering the "stay at home parent" life insurance, they will have to get life insurance needed from an insurance company directly. The amount of life insurance needed depends on many factors, including number and ages of children, perceived economic value of parent, and the expected number of years the parent will stay at home. Inflation and income taxes should also be considered when computing the amount of insurance needed.

Typically, the life insurance amount will range between $250,000 and $500,000. I usually recommend my clients purchase a term life insurance policy with at least a 10-year level price for the coverage. A female age 35 who doesn't smoke should be able to get a 10-year level $250,000 term life insurance contract for $155 per year.—By David Hennings

APYs and interest rates are subject to change without notice after account opening. For Cash Management Checking, the interest rate for the portion of the balance above $5,000 is tied to the weekly average Federal Funds Rate less not more than 1%, which as of 8/23/98 is 5.36%. The portion of the balance $5,000 and below earns an interest rate determined by the bank, which as of 8/23/98 is 2.96%. The APY ranges from 3.00% to 5.37% on $100,000. Fees may reduce earnings on the Cash Management Checking account. For the Superior Performance Fund, the interest rate for the portion of the balance that is $100,000 or more is tied up to the 13-Week Treasury Bill weekly auction discount rate, less not more than 1.50%. As of 8/23/98, the interest rate for this tier is set at 5.365%. The APY is 5.50%. The interest rate for the portion of your balance that is $25,000 or more but less than $100,000 is tied to the 13-Week Treasury Bill rate less not more than 1%. As of 8/23/98, the interest rate for this tier is set at 5.845%. The APY ranges from 4.00% to 5.50%. The interest rate for the portion of your balance below $25,000 is tied to the 13-Week Treasury Bill rate less not more than 5%. As of 8/23/98, this interest rate is set at 3.93%. The APY is 4.00%. EMPLOYMENT OUTLOOK '98

September 11, 1998

Lakeland Newspapers / C15

Boost in hiring pace slated for Lake County

A rosy job picture is projected for the Lake County area this fall. That finding is based on the Employment Outlook Survey, issued by Manpower, Inc. for October, November and December.

"Among local companies responding to our fourth quarter hiring survey," Charles Bartels of Manpower said, "31 percent say they will increase their workforce this fall, none are preparing to reduce personnel and 66 percent indicate their employment will remain stable. The remaining 3 percent have not yet decided."

Bartels said that year-end staffing is influenced by a mix of seasonal factors, with retail gearing up for the holidays, but other industries slowing down. "The outlook was weaker three months ago, when 26 percent planned to raise their payrolls and 16 percent intended to reduce them. Last year at this time, 33 percent predicted adding to their workforce while 20 percent foresaw fewer workers."

Employment opportunities appear most promising this fall in construction, durable and non-durable goods manufacturing, wholesale/retail trade and services.

Hiring nationally will be sustained at a high seasonal level typical of earlier 1998 quarters, as 29 percent intend to add staff, 7 percent expect declines, 60 percent foresee no change and 4 percent remain uncertain.

The employment outlook survey

Manpower Inc. conducts the Employment Outlook Survey on a quarterly basis. It is a measurement of employers' intentions to increase or decrease the permanent workforce; and during its 22 year history has been a significant indicator of employment trends. The survey is based on telephone interviews with 16,000 public and private employers in 474 U.S. cities. Manpower Inc. is the world's largest staffing services firm, annually providing employment of 1.6 million people through more than 2,500 offices in 48 countries.

Retail Management

With more than 2,400 stores in 23 states (and still growing), Speedway SuperAmerica LLC continues to position itself for future success! Currently, opportunities exist for qualified candidates within the Store Manager (SMT) and District Manager (DMT) Trainee programs.

STORE MANAGER TRAINEE

After successfully completing a 2 month training program, an SMT will assume daily responsibility of a multi-million dollar facility. Directly impacting the success of this facility will require an individual who can handle a variety of tasks in a very fast-paced environment. Qualifications include previous single unit management experience in the retail or restaurant industry.

DISTRICT MANAGER TRAINEE

After successfully completing a 12-14 month training program a DMT will directly impact the success of an 8-10 store district. Qualifications include a college degree and/or previous single unit or multi-unit management

Women's Pearl of Health Month

October at Condell is

Women's Pearl of Health Month

In October, Condell Medical Center celebrates women by hosting an extraordinary education series. These illuminating sessions can benefit every woman, no matter what her age or lifestyle.

Topping the event are keynote speakers Marci Shimoff and Harriet Lerner, PhD. Shimoff, co-author of the popular bestsellers Chicken Soup for the Woman's Soul and Chicken Soup for the Mother's Soul will motivate and inspire listeners on Tues., Oct. 27. Dr. Lerner, author of The Mother Dance: How Children Change Your Life and a trilogy of bestsellers will speak on Wed., Oct. 7. Keynote presentations will be in the Carmel High School auditorium, Route 176, Mundelein.

All other Pearl of Health seminars are free of charge and will be held on the Condell Medical Center Campus in the Allen Conference Center, 700 Garfield Ave., Libertyville. Reservations are required. Please don't delay, as seating is limited.

Reserve your tickets now! (847) 362-2905, ext. 5770

Depression in Adolescents and Young Adult Women

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Dear ...Search,

I am a working mom who has been employed full time for the past 11 months with the same company. I offer support to three sales professionals and enjoy what I do for the most part. I have a respectable salary and excellent medical coverage. Before the holidays started, I found myself starting to get stressed out and overwhelmed with trying to balance my job, family and all. I approached my employer on a Friday, asking him if after the first of the year, I could cut down my work week to four days per week instead of the five I now work. I felt this would allow me the extra time to catch up on this balancing act that I have created for myself. My employer asked me if I had already made up my mind that this is what I would like to do. I said that I had felt that it would be good for me. He said he would take our conversation under advisement. The following Tuesday, much to my surprise I found out that calls were coming in on an ad that was running in the local paper for my position. I immediately went to my boss and asked what was going on. He explained that unfortunately, I was hired to work a standard 5-day, 40-hour work week, an agreement that I have told him I feel I can no longer hold to. Therefore the company felt it necessary to find someone who can. Now I am unemployed. I have been turned down for unemployment benefits because the company said I was unable to fulfill the employment agreement I entered into with them. Can they do this?

F.D.-Zion

Dear F.D.,

Since you have already heard that you have been turned down for unemployment, possibly so. You do have the right however, to appeal the outcome with an appeals officer. Check with the unemployment advisor that you met with and find out how to go about that. I have to say that I understand the position your former employer was in. If every full time employee came to them saying that they need a day off per week, who would get the work done. The other situation you may not have taken into consideration, should your company have accepted a 4-day work week, you may very well have lost all benefits with them as it is common for companies not to offer standard benefits to part-timers. You may want to re-think your future needs in the home and workplace and desire to work full or part time. If you feel you need the flexibility, you may even consider working temporary assignments until such a time when you are not feeling so overwhelmed. Good luck to you.

State to sponsor veterans workshop

The State of Illinois will hold an Employment Orientation and Information Workshop in Grayslake to help veterans about employment opportunities in state government. All veterans are welcome to attend. The workshop was announced by Michael Schwartz, director of the Illinois Department of Central Management Services (CMS).

"Our goal is to assist veterans in learning about job opportunities with the state while streamlining the employment process," Schwartz said.

The Employment Workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Friday, Sept. 18 at the College of Lake County, 19351 W. Washington St., in Grayslake.

The event is being sponsored by the CMS Veterans Outreach Program with assistance from the Illinois Departments of Veteran's Affairs and Employment Security.

"Veterans who are interested in specific state agencies should plan on attending this informational workshop. Personnel representatives from a variety of state agencies will be available to discuss job opportunities and qualifications needed for employment," said Tammy McClure, Deputy director of human resources for CMS.

Veterans attending the workshop will receive individual job counseling from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in order to learn how to match their skills with existing state positions. On-site testing will be available from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Persons seeking more information about the workshop or persons with disabilities who need reasonable accommodations in order to participate may contact the CMS Veterans Outreach Program at (800) 643-8138 or the Illinois Relay Center at (800) 526-0844 (TDD).

Lawyers answer phones for free during Call-a-Lawyer program

Volunteer attorneys will answer phones at the Chicago Bar Association (CBA) during the Call-a-Lawyer Program on Saturday, Sept. 19 from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Lawyers from the CBA Lawyer Referral Service will answer questions of Chicago-area residents who call (312) 554-2001 during program hours. There is no charge for the legal advice given.

The Call-a-Lawyer program assists the public with general legal advice. Attorneys will be available to answer questions on a variety of legal issues, including family law, personal injury, contracts and others. Callers can explain their situation to an attorney who can then suggest steps they can take to resolve their legal issue. If callers need further legal services, they will be advised to see their attorney or receive information about getting one through the CBA Lawyer Referral Service.

Participating attorneys are members of the CBA Lawyer Referral Service, a public service which makes referrals to Chicago and suburban lawyers. Call-a-Lawyer, which serves over 1,500 city and suburban residents annually, is offered through the Lawyer Referral Service and is typically held the third Saturday morning of each month.
